ABSTRACT

This resource guide is intended to identify both primary and supplementary resources for designing preservice and inservice training on early intervention programs for children with disabilities. The instructional materials are described and listed in three sections. The first section provides annotated descriptions of instructional materials in 14 early childhood content areas including assistive technology, cultural diversity, early care and development, evaluation/assessment, family-professional collaboration, Individualized Family Service Plan/Individualized Education Program, inclusion, interagency collaboration, legislation, service coordination, specific populations, state planning and resource development, teams, and transitions. Section 2 describes resources on the instructional process including family participation and personnel preparation and development. Section 3 lists additional resources such as curriculum guides and multiple content resources. Each of the sections identifies materials as either primary resources (usually described at some length and intended for direct instructional use with no or minimal adaptation) or supplemental resources (briefly listed). Sources for all materials are provided in a source list. Some items are coded to identify them as having been reviewed for cultural and linguistic sensitivity. (DB)

Introduction

How to Use the Resource Guide

The purpose of the Resource Guide is twofold:

- to identify and describe materials (primary resources) that can assist in designing quality preservice and inservice learning opportunities (i.e., curricula, videotapes, discussion guides); and

- to identify materials that can serve as supplemental resources to your personnel preparation and development efforts (i.e., bibliographies, free publications, annotated directories of additional curricula).

What's in the Resource Guide?

The Resource Guide features instructional material in three sections: Instructional Content; Instructional Process; and Additional Resources. A list of topics and information covered in each of these sections follows.

Instructional Content

This section provides annotated listings of materials with which to enrich preservice and inservice personnel preparation in key 14 early childhood/early intervention content areas. These include:

Assistive Technology—resources for sharing information about the use of assistive technology with young children

Cultural Diversity—materials to facilitate the appreciation of individual differences in ourselves and the families we serve and to promote interactions that reflect cultural and linguistic sensitivity

Early Care and Development—materials to promote optimum early development, including the design, implementation, and evaluation of quality child care environments that lend themselves to effective inclusion

Evaluation/Assessment—resources for training others in gathering and sharing child and family information

Family-Professional Collaboration—materials for assisting individuals and programs in movement toward family-centered practices and effective collaboration

IFSP/IEP—resources for to sharing information and promoting learning about the IFSP and IEP processes

Inclusion—materials for promoting quaility environments that support the development of all young children

Interagency Collaboration—information and activities to foster productive collaborative efforts that support young children and families

Legislation—materials for sharing information about federal legislation and policies that affect young children and families

Service Coordination—materials for teaching about case management and service coordination

Specific Populations—instructional resources targeted to specific audiences including medical personnel, paraprofessionals, and practitioners who serve parents with special needs, children infected with HIV, and premature infants

State Planning and Resource Development—resources to assist states in setting up structures to support and link the components of personnel development (recruitment, preparation, qualification, support and retention).

Teams—materials for promoting teamwork

Transitions—materials for sharing information about the transitions in early childhood/early intervention made by young children and families.

Instructional Process

Resources to enrich the design of quality personnel preparation efforts, including:

Family Participation—materials to the involvement of family members in different roles of early childhood intervention, including leadership, advocacy, personnel preparation, and program design and development

Personnel Preparation and Development—information on models (mentoring, consultation) and methods (instructional approaches, case method, team-based approaches) for supporting preservice education, inservice training, and ongoing staff development

Additional Resources

This section provides lists of other resource guides and personnel preparation materials, including:

Curriculum Guides —compilations of information about existing curricula

Multiple Content Resources—resources that address two or more content areas

How is the Resource Guide Organized?

Each section includes two kinds of entries: Primary resources and Supplemental resources.

Primary resources are materials that are described at length, including title, author, date, format (print, video, audiotape), content (brief description), level of impact, source, and cost. Typically these are items that were intended for instructional use and lend themselves without adaptation.

Supplemental resources are other materials described in terms of title, author, source, and cost. Addresses and telephone numbers for these sources are provided in the Source List that begins on page 122 of the Resource Guide. These are items that might be useful as activites, checklists, vignettes, hand-outs, readings, or bibliographic entries.

A Source List follows the content sections and includes publishers and producers for supplemental materials described in the Resource Guide. Two indices follow the Source List and provide alphabetical listings of all Resource Guide entries by author and title.

The Resource Guide is also available online as a PDF file at [http:\\www.fpg.unc.edu/Publications/Rguide/rguide.pdf]
By downloading Adobe Acrobat Reader (available for free at the website) you will be able to read, copy, print, or search the Resource Guide.

Features of the 8th edition:

this symbol in the margin indicates entries that are new to the 8th edition of the Resource Guide.

this symbol in the margin designates items that have been reviewed for the cultural and linguistic sensitivity as part of the CLAS (Culturally and Lingustically Appropriate Services) Early Childhood Research Institute. Each review provides information about the strengths, limitations, and potential uses for personnel preparation of the material. The home page for CLAS is http://clas.uiuc.edu. Reviews of materials may be found by title or by author at http://clas.uiuc.edu/resource.html.

- margins have been designed with lined space, for taking notes about individual entries.

Please note that the Resource Guide is not intended to be a comprehensive document. Instead, this collection represents material the compilers have used, currently use and will continue to use until we discover even better materials in this very dynamic field. Your help in facilitating those discoveries will be greatly appreciated!

Assistive Technology

This section includes resources for sharing information about the use of assistive technology with young children.

Primary Resources

Assistive technology: A training manual for interdisciplinary teams

Debbie Reinhartsen, Editor

This curriculum captures effective instructional sequences for training about key aspects of assistive technology (i.e., technology and the law, literacy skills, funding, devices, assessment). Each content module provides essential instructional components, including learning objectives, a content overview, an instructional outline with overhead/handout cues, discussion questions and applications, and all related instructional materials. Each module is completely self-contained and designed to be presented alone, with other modules, or used for independent study. An added feature of this loose-leaf formatted curriculum is the inclusion of additional resources (articles, checklists, etc.) in the binder.

Tech it easy

Debbie Reinhartsen, Susan Attermeier, Rebecca Edmondson, & Patsy Pierce

This resource contains suggestions and materials for providing training about assistive technology in early intervention service delivery. All planning guidance, objectives, and strategies are designed to foster parent-professional collaboration in the selection and use of assistive technology and light-tech adaptations. Materials include an "Assistive Technology Comfort-Level Survey" to evaluate the attitudes and knowledge of participants on a pre- and post- basis, six self-contained modules on aspects on assistive technology, and three sections of references and resources.

Supplemental Resources

Baby power: A guide for families for using assistive technology with their infants and toddlers

Pierce, P. (Ed.). (1994). Raleigh, NC: NC Department of Human Resources, Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities and Substance Abuse Services. This guide compiles suggestions and guidelines for using assistive technology to help families with different aspects of their baby's life. Each chapter includes basic information on "nuts and bolts", strategies to try, sample IFSP goals, things to consider as a child "transitions" into new programs, and helpful resources. Free. Call (919) 733-3654 for a copy.

Benefits and applications of computer technology for infants and toddlers

Macomb Projects. (1989). Macomb, IL: Author. This 21-minute videotape and accompanying 22-page manual depict children from birth to age three with disabilities using switches, computers, software and peripheral devices in learning activities. Great illustrations of applications of technology, especially for audiences new to this area. Cost: $25.00.

Freedom of speech

West Virginia Documentary Consortium & Spectra Media, Inc. (1997). South Charleston, WV: Author. This is a 30-minute, closed captioned video about the capacity of technology to assist individuals with disabilities in achieving their potential. Using stories from two families, this tape delivers powerful messages about concerns, priorities, resources and aspirations from parent and consumer perspectives. Cost: $56.00 includes postage.

Kids included through technology are enriched: A guidebook for teachers of young children

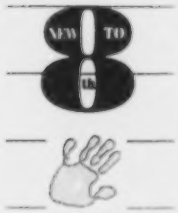
PACER Center. (1997). Minneapolis, MN: Author. This 128-page book with full-color illustrations suggests practical strategies for integrating computers, communication aids, and other devices to help children with disabilities at school and at home. Resource lists as well as reproducible forms and questionnaires will help both parents and professionals choose and use technology effectively. Cost: $15.00.

Welcome to my preschool! Communicating with technology

National Center to Improve Practice, Education Development Center, Inc. (1994). Newton, MA: Author. This 14-minute, closed-captioned tape visits an integrated preschool classroom where students with disabilities have full access to the curriculum through the use of high and low technology tools. In voice-overs, the teacher discusses specific challenges, the technologies that have been selected to address the challenges, and the benefits. Stock #4596. Cost: $29.99.

Young children and technology

PACER Center. (1997). Minneapolis, MN: Author. This 14-minute, closed captioned video shows how assistive technology can benefit young children with disabilities. Various devices are demonstrated in home and preschool settings, and strategies for infusing assistive technology in IFSPs and IEPs are offered. Cost: $35.00. It can also be rented directly from PACER for $10.00.



Cultural Diversity

This section includes materials to facilitate the appreciation of individual differences in ourselves and the families we serve and to promote interactions that reflect cultural and linguistic sensitivity.

Primary Resources

Culturally responsive family-focused training (CRAFT)

Deborah Chen & Linda Brekken

These materials were developed as part of a 15-hour sequence of instruction designed to improve the quality of early intervention services provided to young children and their families from diverse cultures. A videotape and accompanying print materials address seven topics: stereotypes and the media; cultural diversity; family values; building relationships; communication; communication and language acquisition; and the NICU. Each topic area includes a video segment, a highlighted quote, key points, discussion questions, trainer notes, and handouts. Because of the organization of the materials, they lend themselves to use in preservice or inservice settings.

Dealing with differences

Marion O'Malley & Tiffany Davis

This manual is designed for individuals who are interested in facilitating workshops, classes and training sessions on understanding diversity, promoting multicultural education and improving intergroup relations. Information is provided for trainers of varying skill levels, including introductory sections with tips on designing and facilitating training (novice) and conceptual frameworks for further exploration (advanced). The manual includes lots of ideas for organization of training, instructional approaches, dividing groups, providing feedback and planning next steps. Each activity includes goals, materials, procedures and trainers notes, along with reproducible overheads and handouts.

Developing cultural competence in early childhood assessment

Susan M. Moore, Janet Beatty, & Clara Pérez-Méndez

These training materials were developed to respond to questions regarding the best methods for incorporating values, cultural differences, and child-rearing practices into everyday usage when interacting with families from diverse linguistic and cultural backgrounds. It provides frameworks for examining, or teaching/training about skill in five aspects of early childhood assessment: gathering background information; working with interpreters and cultural mediators; adapting formal measures and utilizing informal measures; interpreting assessment information; and sharing information with families. Two unique tools (Cultural Competence Team Self-Reflection Tool & Personal Values Self-Reflection Tool) could be very useful in facilitating the movement of trainees from awareness to application of cultural knowledge.

Diversity

Janet Gonzalez-Mena

A series of four videotapes designed to help individuals working with young children and their families to integrate culturally responsive caregiving with developmentally appropriate practices and a set of thought-provoking discussion questions comprise this remarkable set of materials. The tapes (Diversity, Independence and Individuality; Diversity: Contrasting Perspectives; Diversity and Communication; Diversity and Conflict Management) display a multiethnic group of practitioners and family members struggling over differences that arise from culturally driven view on caring for children. Preservice instructors, inservice trainers, or individuals with staff development responsibilities could use these materials to uncover pre-conceived notions, provide exposure to other viewpoints within a non-judgmental manner, and offer approaches to conflict resolution, all in a safe context.

Essential connections: Ten keys to culturally sensitive child care

Center for Child & Family Studies, Far West Laboratory

This 36-minute videotape does a sensitive, effective job of illustrating principles for creating culturally sensitive child care environments. It is accompanied by a "magazine" which offers additional text about the ten areas (Provide cultural consistency, Work toward representative staffing, etc.) discusssed. Each area could provide the basis for discussion and strategizing about program-specific applications. Part of the Culture, families, and providers module described on page 19.

Infusing cultural competence in early childhood programs

Nona Flynn, Eva Thorp, Kyppee Evans, & Cherie Takemoto, Editors

This publication, developed through a collaborative project between The Center for Human disAbilities at George Mason University and The Parent Educational Advocacy Training Center, includes a participant's notebook and trainer's manual for Multicultural Early Childhood Team Training, an inservice training model promoting parent/professional collaboration in early childhood settings. The materials have been used to prepare parents and professional teams to improve services to diverse families of young children with special needs. While targeting programs that serve families who represent multiple cultural and linguistic communities, there is a focus on cultural awareness, sensitivity, and competence. This compilation of eleven training modules includes objectives, teaching activities, and readings. The notebook is supported by a trainer's manual which provides easy to follow, step-by-step notes for instruction. The cross-cutting themes throughout are family centered practice, parent and professionals partnership, cultural competence, and systematic problem solving to promote program change.

Understanding family uniqueness through cultural diversity

Margarita Luera

The Project Tá-kos approach to training cultural sensitivity to diversity is based on each participant identifying their own unique culture beginning with their family of origin's culture. The materials are designed to be used as a four workshop sequence: "Self-awareness," "Cultural Exclusiveness," and "Consciousness Raising" are completed in the first workshop; "Heightened Awareness" in the second workshop; "Overemphasis" in the third workshop; and "Integration and Balance" in the fourth and final workshop. Each component builds on the previous component. The user's guide specifies that while someone facilitating a workshop with these materials does not need to be a cultural expert, they must be very familiar with the materials.

Supplemental Resources

Annotated bibliographies

Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Services Early Childhood Research Institute (CLAS). (1998-1999). Champaign, IL: Author. As an aid to faculty members and presenters who wish to infuse diversity in readings, assignments, and discussions, the CLAS project has compiled annotated bibliographies on topics that range from child find and cross-cultural conceptions of child-rearing to definitions of culture. All bibliographies are available on the Web at clas.uiuc.edu/annotate/.

Barnga: A simulation game on cultural clashes

Thiagarajan, S. & Steinwachs, B. (1990). Yarmouth, ME: Intercultural Press. A card game designed to help participants experience the shock of realizing that in spite of many similarities, people from other cultures have differences in the way they do things. Run in a relatively short time, Barnga can facilitate discoveries and discussions about how to reconcile those differences in order to function in a cross-cultural relationship or group. Cost: $22.95.

Building bridges with multicultural picture books for children 3–5

Beaty, J. J. (1997). Upper Saddle River, NJ: Prentice-Hall, Inc. This book offers strategies for acquainting teachers and children with multicultural book characters as a strategy for helping them to relate to and accept the real multicultural people they meet. This resource offers suggestions for choosing books, leading children into book extension activities featuring multicultural characters, and developing multicultural curricula. Cost: $39.00.

Building cultural reciprocity with families: Case studies in special education

Harry, B., Kalyanpur, M., & Day, M. (1999). Baltimore: Paul Brookes. This monograph takes readers into the lives of eight families of children (preschool - high school) with disabilities. Each is unique in its culture, configuration and priorities. The cases and accompanying questions can be used to strengthen interactions between families, caregivers, and professionals with regard to the cultural values and beliefs that form families' goals for their children and conflicts between individual beliefs and the culture of special education. Cost: $30.00.

Celebrating diversity: Aproaching families through their food

Eliades, D.C., & Suitor, C.W. (1998). (2ND ed.). Arlington, VA: Maternal and Child Health Clearinghouse. This monograph has lots of good information and good ideas for promoting the capacity of providers to communicate more effectively with a diverse clientele. "Strategies in action" describe challenging situations that could be used as vignettes in training. This resource may be freely copied. Cost: $10.00.

Cross-cultural dialogues: 74 brief encounters with cultural difference

Storti, C. (1994). Yarmouth, ME: Intercultural Press, Inc. This book is a collection of brief conversations (4–8 lines) between an American and someone from another country and culture. Each dialogue has buried within it examples or breaches of cultural norms that may occur in different settings; many would be suitable for use in training to explore cultural differences. Cost: $16.95.

Cultural competence in screening and assessment: Implications for services to young children with special needs ages birth through five

Anderson, M., & Goldberg, P. (1991, December). Minneapolis, MN: PACER Center. This paper examines issues related to the screening and evaluation of young children from various cultural and linguistic backgrounds. Cost: $4.00.

Cultural competence self-assessment questionnaire: A manual for users

Mason, J.L. (1995). Portland, OR: Portland State University, Research and Training Center on Family Support and Children's Mental Health. An instrument to assist child and family-serving programs and agencies to identify cross-cultural strengths and areas in which change may be needed. Practical considerations, such as creating a positive environment in which to identify areas for change and implications for training, are also addressed. Cost: $8.00.

Culture and the clinical encounter: An intercultural sensitizer for the health professions

Gropper, R.C. (1996). Yarmouth, MA: Intercultural Press, Inc. This monograph presents a series of critical incidents in which communication between a health professional and a patient or client breaks down due to a lack of knowledge about cutural differences. Four possible explanations are offered; information on best choices is presented in a separate section. The incidents could be used as part of preservice or inservice training, but would also be well-suited to self study. Stock No. P-382. Cost: $23.95.

Culture, family, and providers

Center for Child and Family Studies, Far West Laboratory. (1995). Sacramento, CA: California Department of Education. This module is actually a set of integrated materials including two print resources (Infant/toddler caregiving: A guide to creating partnerships with parents and Infant/toddler caregiving: A guide to culturally sensitive care), two video resources (Essential connections and Protective urges: Working with the feelings of parents and caregivers), and a Trainer's Manual. Based on current theory and practice, these materials are clearly organized in lesson plans that can be covered in 45 minutes or more. Each lesson plan includes an overview, key concepts in culturally competent child care, materials, activity sheets, handouts, overheads, discussion questions, and options for further exploration. Cost: $159.00.

Culture in special education: Building reciprocal family-professional relationships

Kalyanpur, M. & Harry, B. (1999). Baltimore, MD: Paul Brookes. Using a powerful combination of research, examples, and personal experiences, the authors identify and challenge the cultural assumptions and values that are embedded in special education policies and practices in this country. Each chapter begins with a personal story shared by the authors who both grew up outside this country; by the end of the chapter the reader has been introduced to new ways of thinking about laws and policies, professional expertise and language, and parenting. The book also offers a framework for students to identify the personal and professional values they bring to interactions with culturally diverse families of children with disabilities. Cost: $28.00.

Developing cross-cultural competence: A guide for working with children and their families

Lynch, E. W., & Hanson, M.J. (1998). (2nd. ed.). Baltimore, MD: Paul H. Brookes. This monograph has a variety of features, including guidelines for conducting a culturally sensitive home visit. Cost: $39.95.

Developing roots and wings: A trainer's guide to affirming culture in early childhood programs

York, S. (1992). Beltsville, MD: Gryphon House. This companion to Roots and Wings: Affirming Culture in Early Childhood Programs includes over 170 multicultural training activities adaptable to any audience or training style. Designed to prepare child care staff and caregivers to provide multicultural education that will prevent and eliminate the development of prejudice and racism in children, it also provides ideas for trainer support, training design, and personnel development. Cost: $29.95.

Diversity & developmentally appropriate practices

Mallory, B. L., & New, R. S. (Eds.). (1994). New York: Teachers College Press. The primary purpose of this edited volume is to provide a forum for the presentation of new challenges to the concepts and indicators of developmentally appropriate practices in early childhood. The dual focus on children representing cultural and developmental differences is carried out quite successfully throughout the volume. This thought-provoking volume makes an important contribution to the field. Stock No. 3299-0. Cost: $41.00.

Diversity training module: Fostering awareness, implementation, commitment, and advocacy

Jarvis, V. T., & Rodriguez, P. (1998). Raleigh, NC: North Carolina Division of Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities and Substance Abuse Services. These materials were developed to offer participants in both preservice and inservice settings a better understanding of diversity. Four sections offer outlines, handouts, vignettes and activities in the areas of awareness, implementation, commitment, and advocacy. A pre- and post-test are provided along with evaluation forms and supplemental resources. Cost: FREE.

Experiential activities for intercultural learning

Seelye, H.N. (1996). Yarmouth, ME: Intercultural Press. This book brings together a collection of 32 exercises and activities designed to augment the resources and expand the repertoire of trainers and educators. While some activities relate specifically to business interactions, many would be great for exploring cultural attitudes and biases. Stock No. P-372. Cost: $21.95.

A film and video guide on teaching diversity: An annotated bibliography

Gonzales, J.R. (1997, May). Albuquerque, NM: College of Education, University of New Mexico. This resource was developed to assist faculty and students with their work in the areas of equity, diversity, multiculturalism and bilingual education. Cost: FREE.

¡Hola means hello! Resources & ideas for promoting diversity in early childhood settings

Fenson, C., Dennis, B., & Palsha, S. (1998). (2ND ed.). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center. Here's a resource that was designed to assist child care providers, teachers, and other personnel who provider services to young children and their families, in promoting diversity and fostering discussion of different beliefs, values and traditions. Sections include resources/materials for enhancing cultural awareness, a self-assessment checklist, booklists, and instructional resources. Cost: $5.00.

Infant/toddler caregiving: A guide to creating partnerships with parents

Center for Child and Family Studies, Far West Laboratory. (1990). Sacramento: California Dept. of Education. This caregivers' guide, designed to offer information on current theory, research and practice, could be used to support training about key aspects of effective child care environments. It starts with a vision statement for positive child, family and provider relationships, then progresses through nine sections that range from listening and responding to families' needs and considering the family in its culture to conducting business, any of which could be used to explore similar issues with a training audience. Part of the Culture, family and providers module described on page 19. Cost: $12.50.

An introduction to cultural competence principles and elements: An annotated bibliography

Mason, J.L., Braker, K., & Williams-Murphy, T.L. (1995). Portland, OR: Portland State University. Developmental continuity training modules

Region IV Education Service Center

This set of ten training modules and accompanying videotape were developed to build the capacity to implement developmentally appropriate inclusive educational programs for young children (preschool through third grade). Module topics are varied (Developmental Continuity: Foundation for Inclusion, Learning Environments, Observation and Anecdotal Records, Planning Small Group Experiences, Developing Family Partnerships), and each includes objectives, activities, training procedures, materials, transparencies and handouts. Each module was designed around the 4MAT cycle (learning for personal meaning or "why," for content or "what," for practice or "how," and for application or for "what if/what next." This is an approach to learning that uses all four learning styles/needs to maximize learner comfort while being stretched to develop other learning abilities.

Social-emotional growth and socialization

Center for Child and Family Studies, Far West Laboratory. (1995). Sacramento, CA: California Department of Education. This module is actually a set of integrated materials including a print resource (Infant/toddler caregiving: A guide to social-emotional growth and socialization), three videos (First moves, Flexible, fearful, or feisty, and Getting in tune), and a Trainer's Manual. Based on current theory and practice, these materials are clearly organized in lesson plans that can be covered in 45 minutes or more. Each lesson plan includes an overview, key concepts in culturally competent child care, materials, activity sheets, handouts, overheads, discussion questions, and options for further exploration. Cost: Print material: $12.50 plus sales tax. Videos: $65.00 plus sales tax. Trainer's manual: $20.00 plus sales tax.

Start now!
Parents can be their child's best and most important teachers

El Valor. (1998). Chicago: Author. Using culturally diverse family members and illustrations, this video shows how parents and other care providers can assist with brain development through reading, communication, music and play every day. The tape may be viewed either in Spanish (first half) or in English (second half). Cost: Free with written explanation of how material will be used.

Ten things every child needs

Robert R. McCormick Foundation. (1997). Chicago, IL: Author.Interaction. Loving touch. Stable relationships. Safe, healthy environments. Self esteem. Quality child care. Play. Communication. Music. Reading. This very inexpensive 1-hour videotape offers simple, well-supported suggestions for parents, teachers and child care providers that can help children develop social, emotional and intellectual skills. The tape's examples provide a great marriage between theory (research findings) and practice (applications to daily interactions with young children). Cost: $12.00.

Tips for teaching infants and toddlers

Weil, C., D'Amato, E., Benson, D., & Cagan, F. (1998). Vero Beach, FL: The Speech Bin. This book provides multisensory, interdisciplinary activities that provide infants and toddlers with abundant opportunities to see, hear, feel, manipulate, smell, experience, and interact with their world. A great resource for helping students develop themes and activities and some new ideas for practitioners. Cost: $39.95.

What's best for infants and young children?

Brault, L, & Chasen, F. (Eds.) (1997). San Diego, CA: United Cerebral Palsy Association. This guide provides a resource for families, professionals and others who are interested in improving services and programs for infants and young children in their community. Self-assessments and examples of recommended practice could be used for program evaluation, teaching or training. Cost: $12.00. Ask for CoCoSer Best Practice Guide.

Evaluation/Assessment

This section includes resources for training others in gathering and sharing child and family information.

Primary Resources

Evaluation and assessment of infants and toddlers: Creating family-centered, developmentally appropriate evaluations

Mimi A. Graham

These materials are designed to convey to individuals involved in the screening, evaluation, and/or assessment of infants and toddlers information for creating family-centered, developmentally appropriate, multidisciplinary evaluation systems at the community level. The Instructor's Guidebook is thorough and well-organized, offering sections on "Preparation for Training," "Competencies and Best Practices," "Creating Family-centered Evaluations," "Options for Assisting Families," "Multicultural Competencies," "Enhancing Teamwork," "Review of Instruments," "Alternative Evaluation/Assessment Processes," "Integration of Competencies," "Best Practices and Teamwork," and "Implementing Change." Pre- and post-tests for participants are provided, along with forms for evaluating the training. Overheads are provided, and forms for participants are included in each Participant's Manual.

Joining forces: Early childhood team assessment

Gina Guarneri, Ann Carr, & Linda Brekken

These training materials are designed to assist early education programs in efforts to develop and implement a transdisciplinary team assessment model. The videotape (19-1/2 minutes) provides examples of transdisciplinary team assessment models which would be illustrative for preservice or inservice audiences, followed by discussion about how the examples might be even better. The discussion guide delineates key points and activities, and provides handouts.

Supplemental Resources

Breaking the news

Institute for Families of Blind Children. (1990). Los Angeles: Author. This 15-minute videotape was developed for physicians but has application to interdisciplinary training audiences. It handles the content of sharing difficult diagnostic information sensitively and is a treasure at $10.00.

Child observation techniques

Drake, A., & Kubetz, D. (1994). Glen Ellyn, IL: Office of Instructional Design, College of DuPage. This 27-minute videotape offers visual samples, guided practice, and feedback leading to the development of basic skills for observation. The examples that are provided for both toddlers and infants are not discipline-specific, and would be suitable for training of interdisciplinary paraprofessional and professional audiences. Cost: $79.95.

Communication with preverbal infants and young children

University of Colorado Health Sciences Center. School of Nursing. (1990). Lawrence, KS: Learner Managed Designs, Inc. This set of materials includes a videotape, index of test items (for pre- and post-test), master copy of test items for reproduction, answer key and user's manual. Stock No. 1009. Cost: $198.00 (videotape, manual, test packet).

Early infant assessment redefined

Pathways Awareness Foundation. (1992). Chicago, IL: Author. This video is a longer version of Is my baby OK? and offers good teaching/training material in the areas of honoring family concerns about child development, family-centered interactions, and recognizing milestones of physical development. Cost: $24.95.

First years together: A curriculum for use in interventions with high risk infants and their families

Hornak, R.T., & Carothers, L.H. (1989). Raleigh, NC: Project Enlightenment. Designed to provide sensitive opportunities to acquaint parents with their infant's characteristics through formal and informal assessments, this compilation provides lots of good information about infant/toddler development and praise/encouragement for families. Cost: $20.00.

Improving the post-assessment process: Families and teams together

Moore, S., Ferguson, A., & Eiserman, W. (1995). Boulder, CO: Department of Communication Disorders and Speech Science, University of Colorado at Boulder. This videotape integrates comments from family members and professionals as support for developing family-centered approaches to post-assessment information sharing and service planning. The tape is well-organized and useful for integrating with other training, activities. Cost: $10.00 plus postage.

Increasing family participation in the assessment of children birth to five

Crais, E.R. (1994). Chicago, IL: Applied Symbolix. These materials (workbook and six audiotapes) share information and strategies related to facilitating active participation by all caregivers in planning, conducting, analyzing, reporting, and interpreting assessment activities and results. They provide an overview of the main issues within each of six sections, detailed handouts within the manual with examples or references, and audio examples. Designed for self-study, the examples could be easily be adapted for use in preservice or inservice training. Stock No. 9-22679. Cost: $59.00.

Infant motor development: A look at the phases

Goudy, K., & Winger, J. (1988). Tuscon, AZ: Therapy Skill Builders. This set of materials includes a videotape, instructor's booklet and pre-/post-test format. Cost: $69.00 plus shipping & handling.

Informed clinical opinion

Biro, P., Daulton, D., & Szanton, E. (1991, December). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS, NECTAS Notes, Number 4. This document does a nice job of clearly describing what informed clinical opinion means in the context of Part H and how it affects the determination of eligibility. Cost: $2.00.

Is my baby OK? (¿Está bien mi bebé?)

Pathways Awareness Foundation. (1993). Chicago, IL: Author. The first half of this video shows interactions between parents with developmental concerns about their children and physicians who are not concerned. These vignettes are great training examples for good and better and leave plenty of room for role-playing best interactions. The second half shows two different six-month old infants, one with typical motor skills and one with delayed motor skills, which could be used to develop observation and description skills. Cost: $9.95.

New visions for the developmental assessment of infants and young children

Meisels, S.J., & Fenichel, E. (Eds.). (1996). Washington, DC: ZERO TO THREE/National Center for Clinical Infant Programs. A clear and current rethinking of the key issues from five perspectives that include family perspectives, cultural considerations, information gathering strategies, and policy considerations. Stock No. 135. Cost: $35.00.

Non-biased assessment of the African-American child

Wyatt, T. (1995). Layton, UT: Ladnar Media Group. This 62-minute videotape synthesizes current research, nonbiased assessment approaches, and clinical considerations specific to the language development of African-American children. Factual information covered includes differences in learning and communication styles,and differences between children from urban and rural settings. While some child language samples are provided, the majority of the film is in a lecture format, so skilled trainers may want to alternate didactic videotape segments with complimentary, interactive learning activities. Cost: $58.90.

Screening and assessment: Guidelines for identifying young disabled and developmentally vulnerable children and their families

Meisels, S.J., & Provence, S. (1989). Arlington, VA: ZERO TO THREE/National Center for Clinical Infant Programs. This document focuses on the rationale, core components, and guidelines for establishing a system for screening and assessing young children with disabilities. Stock No. 07. Cost: $8.00.

Transdisciplinary play-based assessment

Linder, T.W. (1993). Baltimore, MD: Paul H. Brookes Publishing Co. This monograph, companion to Transdisciplinary Play-Based Intervention, offers creative strategies for gathering information about young children (0–6) using natural play interactions. The book contains observation guidelines and worksheets for identifying a child's strengths, needs and areas of concern in cognitive, socio-emotional, communication-language and sensorimotor domains. Cost: $41.95.

Family-Professional Collaboration

This section lists materials for assisting individuals and programs in movement toward family-centered practices and effective collaboration.

Primary Resources

Brass tacks: Part I—Program policies and practices Part II—Individual interactions with families

P. J. McWilliam & Pamela Winton

Instruments designed to assist groups (interdisciplinary professionals, family members, administrators) or individual professionals who have regular contact with families. The instruments help to determine the extent to which their interactions, practices, and policies are family-centered and to identify specific areas for change. Using a facilitated self-rating process, the instruments can be used to facilitate examination of early intervention practices in four key areas: "First Encounters with Families," "Identifying Goals for Intervention (Child and family assessment)," " Intervention Planning for Children and Families," and "Day-to-day Service Provision." Structures and strategies are also provided for prioritizing and tracking program or individual movement toward more family-centered practices. Companion instruments for obtaining families' reactions (The Family Report and The Family Report-NICU are available, as well as a Brass Tacks-NICU version.

Building parent/professional collaboration: Facilitator's guide

Project Copernicus, Kennedy Krieger Institute

This training program is one in a series (Train the Trainer Series in Family-Centered Service Delivery) designed to address key issues in family-centered care. This particular resource is designed for sessio ns in which both parents and professionals are participating. The overall format is specific and detailed in outlining the "how to's" and offers all materials necessary for each of nine activities (defining collaboration, building mutual trust and respect, clarifying roles and expectations, communicating, problem solving and conflict resolution strategies, and specific steps to strengthen relationships between parents and professionals. A structured, step-by-step guide provides facilitators with the purpose, time required, learning strategies, and specific materials needed for each activity, but allows for individualized applications of the materials.

Delivering family-centered, home-based services

Larry Edelman

This videotape includes five vignettes, developed to be shown one at a time, followed by discussions and activities that are included in the facilitator's guide. Each illustrates what happens when service providers fail to practice family-centered principles. Roles are played by actual families and service providers, and stories are based on real-life situations. Each vignette illustrates a different theme and is organized in a manner that allows trainers to show a vignette, pause for discussion, show the "actors" reflecting on their interaction, and pause for additional discussion. Background on family-centered principles, objectives, and ideas for additional activities are also included. For many audiences they offer an opportunity to show an interaction, then invite a discussion of how the interaction might have occurred in a more family-friendly manner.

Empowerment skills for family workers

Christiana Dean, Betsy Crane, Jean Anne Dull, & Bud Lawrence

A set of three related monographs form this comprehensive curriculum from the New York State Family Development Training and Credentialing Program. Chapters address competencies in areas that include building mutually respectful relationships with families, communication, cultural competence, home visiting, and collaboration. The Trainer's Manual includes enough activities, discussion questions, transparencies, and handouts for over 100 hours of interactive training sessions. The Field Advisor's Manual includes portfolio forms and other materials that can be used to support and supervise practica. The Worker Handbook provides resources, questions, and activities for extending individual learning. These are materials that could easily be used in preservice or inservice settings to develop skills and competencies necessary for effective family-professional collaboration.

Family-centered institutes: Implementing a model for the preparation of family-centered practitioners

Angela Capone & Jane Ross-Allen of the Center for Developmental Disabilities and Nancy DiVenere & Tanya Baker-McCue of Parent-to-Parent of Vermont

The Family-Centered Institute manual is a set of materials designed to infuse family-centered principles into personnel preparation programs. The materials are organized as a day-by-day guide to a five-day trainer-of-trainers. They include a schedule, goals, instructional materials (drawn from various print and audiovisual sources) and additional resources. Consistent emphasis is provided on both the content and how to communicate the content to others (i.e., preservice & inservice applications). Daily sequences of interactions could be excerpted or used together as a sequence.

A guide for embedding family information in an entry-level physical therapy curriculum

Joyce W. Sparling

Spiral bound compilation that includes goals, objectives, and strategies (with readings and overhead materials) for four courses: "Human Growth and Development," "Clinical Education 1," "Pediatrics," and "Psychiatry and Mental Health." An overall need and philosophy statement supports the serial presentation of material that emphasizes the family as the unit of health. Any one course or units within any course can be extracted and embedded into an existing curriculum. Though fairly academic in orientation, these materials might be modified for inservice application.

Infusing family-centered concepts into agency administration

Patricia Parham & Patricia McMahon

This brief but significant manual offers information intended to facilitate the use of family-centered principles within and across agencies. Its format is straightforward, offering information about the aspect of administration (i.e., governing board), providing questions about how families are (or could be) involved in that aspect of administration, and offering examples from their practice when possible. The questions could easily form the core of a team-based decision-making activity, with an accompanying plan of action or change.

On behalf of families: A sourcebook of training activities for early intervention

Karen Mikus, Rita Benn, & Deborah Weatherston, Editors

This is a collection of 25 training activities that reinforce family-centered early intervention principles and practices, with special emphasis on the development of collaborative partnerships. An overview of activities will enable trainers to quickly select among topic areas that include diversity, IFSP, professional-professional collaboration, family-professional collaboration, grief and loss, families' resources, concerns and priorities and personal responses. Each activity includes purpose, estimated times for preparation and implementation, materials, specific directions, discussion questions, training tips, activity variations and handouts. A practical guide to embedding family-centered content into existing speech-language pathology coursework

Elizabeth Crais

This is a curriculum for graduate training program. Four modules, each designed for presentation within an hour and a half class, introduce students to current issues, beliefs, and practices related to using a family-centered approach to working with families of clients with special needs. Modules include student objectives, class outlines, suggested in- and out-of-class activities, recommended readings for instructors and students, materials for producing handouts and transparencies and alternative activities and readings. Topics include terms and issues related to working with clients with special needs and their families, working with families in the assessment process, sharing assessment information and collaboratively setting goals with families, and evaluating and influencing the extent to which services are family-centered.

Practical strategies for family-centered intervention

P.J. McWilliam, Pamela J. Winton, & Elizabeth Crais

This book provides, in a down-to-earth format, practical strategies for working with families in early intervention contexts. Chapters describe strategies related to the following points of contact with families: developing initial partnerships with families; identifying family concerns, resources, and priorities; collaborating with families in assessment and evaluation; developing intervention plans; and maintaining day-to-day contact. A final chapter focuses on strategies for making changes in program and individual family-centered practices. The book is interspersed with illustrations and examples that ground the information in a real world context. Materials could easily be used in conjunction with other resources (e.g., see Brass Tacks on page 29), and applications to inservice training or preservice education are clear.

Someday's child

Lynda Pletcher

This resource is designed to stimulate a discussion of key concerns needs and hopes common to families who have young children with disabilities. Three families describe their experiences with the emphasis being on how important it is for professionals to listen and to respond to their hopes and concerns. The facilitator's guide includes a transcript of the tape interspersed with questions that could be posed to professionals and parents. This resource would be a good one to use if a training goals were to facilitate a discussion of key issues among parents and professionals.

Building the healing partnership

Leff, P.T., & Walizer, E.H. (1992). Cambridge, MA: Brookline. This book is about family-professional partnerships in the context of early intervention programs. Each chapter includes a section on "Handling Things Better" with instructive vignettes that offer differing viewpoints and comparisons of similar crises that illustrate the divergent approaches of practitioners in like situations, and the subsequent impact on the partnership. Amy Whitehead recommended this book for the Resource Guide as the best she had found on the topic of family-professional partnerships. Cost: $24.95.

Celebrating family strengths: A curriculum for educators

PACER Center. (1993). Minneapolis, MN: Author. The activities in this curriculum were designed to build self-esteem in children by gaining a strong positive view of themselves and their families. They can easily be used to help children, families and service providers appreciate the unique strengths of different family designs and systems. Cost; $10.00.

Charlotte Circle intervention guide for parent-child interactions

Calhoun, M.L., Rose, T.L., & Prendergast, D.E. (1991). Tucson, AZ: Communication Skill Builders. Intervention goals, strategies and activities for developing social interaction skills. Activity sheets for caregivers are reproducible as handouts. Activities are provided in Spanish and English. Cost: $39.00.

A credo for support

Kunc, N., & Van der Klift, E. (1995). Nanaimo, BC: Axis Consultation & Training, Ltd. This powerful 4-minute (closed captioned) video set to music offers a series of suggestions for people who care about and support someone with a disability. It prompts viewers to question the common perceptions of disability, professionalism, and support. Designed for use in preservice, inservice, staff training, and orientation programs, this video can be a provocative catalyst for a dialogue on these issues. Cost: $33.00.

Effective communication for parents and professionals

Duffy, S., Phillips, S., Davis, S. Maloney, T., Stromnes, J., Miller, B., & Larson, K. (1992). Missoula, MT: University of Montana, Rural Institute on Disabilities. This sequence of topical activities address aspects of parent-professional communication in an information plus follow-up activities format that could be easily used in preservice or inservice applications. There are some clever headings to describe the aspect of communication being targeted. For example, the unit on nonverbal communication is called "His Mouth Said Yes! Yes! But His Eyes Said No! No!" Other sections have to do with improving the communication climate, assertiveness, and leading and participating in meetings. All material necessary for use of each section is provided. Cost: $8.00.

Equals in this partnership: Parents of disabled and at-risk infants and toddlers speak to professionals

ZERO TO THREE/National Center for Clinical Infant Programs. (1986). Vienna, VA: National Maternal and Child Health Clearinghouse. This fine compilation of writings is available free from the Clearinghouse. Cost: $7.50 includes shipping & handling.

Families and schools: An essential partnership

SouthEastern Regional Vision for Education (SERVE). (1996). Tallahassee, FL: Author. This resource is designed to assist personnel in developing effective family involvement strategies, programs, and partnerships. Using an inclusive definition of family, the document offers a self-assessment instrument and process for increasing collaboration, information about successful models, tools and examples for supporting collaboration, and information about additional resources. For teaching and training, this resource can compliment other family-centered methods and materials focused on school-age children. Cost: $5.00.

Family album

Portage Project. (1988). Portage, WI: Author. This 23-minute videotape shares the experiences, feelings and concerns of parents raising a child with a disability. A particularly useful section is the in which families describe the qualities they look for in home visitors. An discussion guide offers suggestions for increased awareness and improved relationships. Cost: $40.00.

Family-centered care: An approach to implementation

Hostler, S. L., M.D. (Ed.). (1994). Charlottesville, VA: Kluge Medical Center, University of Virginia. This resource does a fine job of describing a nationally representative sample of models for implementation of family-centered practices. A useful collection for promoting improvements on or alternatives to existing personnel preparation and service delivery models. Cost: $20.00 plus postage.

Family-focused practice in out-of-home care: A handbook and resource directory

Braziel, D.J. (1996). Washington, DC: Child Welfare League of America. This publication is designed to help leaders in out-of-home care agencies to bring a family focus to their policy, administrative, and program structures. Background articles, first person narratives, measures, sample forms/formats, handouts, and exercises can be used to shape individual or collective attitudes and policies regarding the need for a comprehensive array of services to address the needs of children who are living apart from their families on either a temporary or long-term basis. This is an interesting resource providing training material that comes at family-centered practice from the slightly different perspective of out-of-home care. Cost: $18.95.

Family/professional collaboration for children with special health needs and their families

Bishop, K.K., Woll, J., & Arango, P. (1993). Burlington, VT: Department of Social Work, University of Vermont. This monograph has some nice quotes, some useful lists, and some good supporting information on important aspects of collaboration. Examples are pulled from both health and education. Cost: FREE.

Good grief

Kentucky Developmental Disabilities Planning Council. (1990). Frankfort, KY: Author. This 40-minute videotape focuses on the grieving process associated with parenting a child with disabilities. Ken Moses explores how the process helps parents make changes necessary to live with a child, and life that is quite different from what was anticipated. Cost: $10.00 includes shipping & handling.

Hospitals moving forward with family-centered care

Hanson, J.L., Johnson, B.H., Jeppson, E.S., Thomas, J., & Hall, J.H. (1994). Bethesda, MD: Institute for Family-Centered Care. This publication is designed to encourage hospital staff, governing and advisory boards, and families to engage in a process of change toward family-centered care. Lists and worksheets could easily be used in training to discuss how hospitals can translate family-centered principles into practice. Cost: $10.00.

Involving fathers in early intervention and family support programs: Issues and strategies

Davis, P.B., & May, J.E. (1991). Journal of the Association for the Care of Children's Health, 20(2), 87-92. A nice view of why and how.

Listening to families

American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT) Research and Education Foundation. (1995). Van Nuys, CA: Child Development Media, Inc. This 13-tape series is designed to provide teaching examples of effective communication and interviewing skills. Two tapes are content specific (Exploring Family Strengths and Building a Family Partnership). The remaining tapes illustrate in-depth (60 minute) conversations between therapists and families of young children with disabilities. The families are diverse in both culture and configuration. Accompanying brochures offer highlights of each video, including teaching objectives and discussion questions. Cost: $85.00 per tape.

On this journey together

Ohio Dept. of Mental Retardation/Developmental Disabilities. (1991). Columbus: Author. This series of four videotapes (approximately 22 minutes each) is made up of interviews with members of sixteen Ohio families that include children (ages 2–13) with disabilities. Each tape addresses a different topic, including "The Early Days" (initial reactions to diagnoses and labels, helpful strategies), "Partnering with Professionals" (successes and frustrations in working with the professionals who provide services), "Building Brighter Futures" (dreams and expectations, including how to keep them alive), and "Resources for Families" (accepting assistance and support from friends, families, community, and service agencies). Compelling stories and examples for inservice or preservice training. Cost: $10.95 each; $34.95 for all four.

One of the family

Early Connections for Infants, Toddlers and Families, Colorado Department of Education. (1998). Denver: Western Media Products. Four culturally diverse families, each with a young child with disabilities. Each family warmly describes the values that motivate them: including their child in all family activities, treating them as a children first, expecting the most from them, looking for a normal family life, and choosing professionals who support their values. Cost: $39.95.

Protective urges

California Department of Education. (1995). Sacramento, CA: Author. In this videotape, caregiving and support for the development of very young children is explored from family and provider perspectives. In useful terms, parents speak condidly about their concerns, caregivers discuss ways to provide assistance, and both groups work out conflicting feelings about caregiver/child relationships. Part of the Culture, family and providers moduie described on page 17. Available in Spanish and Chinese. Stock No. 1270. Cost $65.00.

Supporting families

Benn, R. (1994). Detroit, MI: Merrill-Palmer Institute, Wayne State University. This videotape and accompanying manual can be used in a variety of ways: as a informational resource on the Part H process, a training tool on family-centered practices, or a catalyst for discussion of key early intervention concepts or values. Some videotape segments are a little dry, and some are Michigan Early On-specific, but the discussion are thoughtful and could promote valuable discussion and learning. Cost: $9.30. Cost: $10.00 (videotape); $3.00 (scrapbook).

IFSP/IEP

This section includes resources for sharing information and promoting learning about the IFSP and IEP processes.

Primary Resources

Developing individualized family support plans: A training manual

Tess Bennett, Barbara V. Lingerfelt, & Donna E. Nelson

This curriculum provides an intensive and comprehensive inservice training plan for learning the process of developing Individualized Family Support Plans (IFSPs). The workbook is organized into three sessions: a rationale for the IFSP, principles of family-centered assessment and intervention (four interrelated modules) and case studies/activities. Each section includes trainer's notes, a preview of important points, discussion questions, space for note taking , subject matter content and related activities, and checklists for review. In addition, the authors provide a general trainer's section which reviews principles of adult learning, options for effective training schedules and strategies for maximizing the effective use of the materials.

Family and the IFSP process

Project Copernicus, Kennedy Krieger Institute

This instructional package includes a 90-minute training video and a facilitator's guide. The videotape is structured to provide information about and illustrations of key landmarks in the IFSP process (first contacts, development of outcomes, identifying family concerns, priorities and resources, initial IFSP meetings, development of transition plans). The illustrations take the form of vignettes in which practices that are less than family-centered are shown in black and white and family-centered approaches are shown in color. Viewers can easily be cued to watch for specific actions that may create barriers or that foster positive, collaborative relationships. The accompanying facilitator's guide provides clear suggestions for use of the materials as part of a statewide, local, inservice, preservice, part-day or multi-day training experience, along with activities and handouts.

The family support plan process

Florida State University, Center for Prevention and Early Intervention Policy

This training curriculum, designed for presentation by a parent-professional team, provides and illustrates a philosophical and process framework for the development of Individualized Family Support Plans for infants and toddlers and their families. The clear, complete set of materials features a Trainer's Manual, from which Participant's Manuals can be produced. Topics covered include legal requirements, family-centered philosophy, family-centered service coordination, the IFSP process and the IFSP meeting. Goals, objectives, timeframes, materials and equipment lists, transparency and handout masters for each section are provided.

The family-centered intervention plan: A routines-based approach

R. A. McWilliam

This book guides classroom-based team members and parents through five stages of planning interventions: 1) preparation, 2) assessment, 3) outcome selection, 4) outcome writing, and 5) review. It provides a sequential model through which families are the primary decision makers for their children's interventions, with input from professionals. An extensive selection of forms and checklists are provided and material could easily be adapted for preservice or inservice application.

Handbook for the development of a family-friendly Individualized Family Service Plan (IFSP)

Vicki Turbiville, Ilene Lee, Ann Turnbull, & Douglas Murphy

This handbook captures the process of IFSP development used at the Beach Center on Families and Disability. The first ("A Holistic View of the Individualized Family Service Plan") section contains general information on the IFSP process. Four additional sections correspond roughly to the stages of development of the IFSP: "The Initial Meeting with the Family," "The Evaluation of the Child," "The Planning of the IFSP," and "The Actual IFSP Meeting." Sections contain key principles or guidelines, activities, forms and additional resources.

Implementing family-centered services in early intervention: A team-based model for change

Donald B. Bailey, P. J. McWilliam, Pamela J. Winton, & Rune Simeonsson

This monograph describes a team-based decision-making workshop for implementing family-centered services in early intervention. It differs from a typical training curriculum in that it focuses on the decisions that teams must make as they seek to become family-centered. It was developed to provide the structure for a four-day workshop in which teams (paraprofessionals, professionals, family members, adminstrators) progress from identification of the elements of a family-centered approach to identifying, establishing and tracking their plan for ensuring that positive change occurs. Goal, handouts, and transparencies are provided.

Maryland's IFSP process: A facilitator's guide for training

Project Copernicus, Kennedy Krieger Institute
in collaboration with the Maryland Infants and Toddlers Program

A family-centered process for the IFSP is described, with a training program to prepare providers to participate in the IFSP process. Included are detailed information on policies, procedures and best practices, situation studies and skill-building activities. While small sections of the content are definitely Maryland-specific, most of the curriculm could be used in any state.

Supplemental Resources

Colorado guidelines for the IFSP process

Miller, J., & Petersen, S. (1998). Denver, CO: Colorado Department of Education. This thoughtful booklet delineates a process full of possibilities and illustrates them with many suggestions, checklists and family stories. Instructionally, the examples could be used to compare/contrast with policies and procedures of other states and the stories could be used as mini-cases. Cost: Single copies are free from Sandy Petersen at the Colorado Department of Education.

Creating a vision: The Individual Family Service Plan

Colorado Interagency Coordinating Council and Colorado Department of Education. (1990). Denver, CO: Denver Early Childhood Connection. [Videotape]. This 30-minute tape illustrates Colorado's model for developing and implementing the IFSP; including the priority for the IFSP process to be adaptable, flexible, family-centered and supportive of families' values, goals and dreams. Cost: $10.00 plus shipping and handling.

A family's guide to the Individualized Family Service Plan

Cripe, J.J.W. (1995). Baltimore, MD: Paul H. Brookes Publishing Co. Very straightforward information about the IFSP provided through videotape of families working with professionals with voiceover narration and family remarks about the process. The videotape presents informative content, but doesn't address IFSP process issues. Could easily be paired with discussion questions about local /state variations in process, models of service delivery (direct, consultative), and financing. Cost: $44.00.

The IEP: A tool for realizing possibilities

PEAK Parent Center. (1999). Colorado Springs, CO: Author. This upbeat and non-technical video was designed to support family members in being more active players in meetings that are critical to the education of their children. Companion facts, personal statements, updates specific to IDEA 1997 amendments make this a nice tool for teaching, training or staff development. Available in English and Spanish. Cost: $23.00.

Indiana's guide to the Individualized Family Service Plan

First Steps. (1992). Indianapolis, IN: First Steps. A guidebook designed to assist families and other team members in the process of developing on IFSP. Cost: Free.

Into our lives

Hunt, M., Cornelius, P., Leventhal, P., Miller, P., Murray, T., & Stoner, G. (1991). Tallmadge, OH: Family Child Learning Center. This guidebook was written by families of children with disabilities as a way to help families and professionals better understand and navigate the IFSP process. Cost: $7.00.

Routine based IEP

The Early Childhood Collaborative Services Project. (1996). Farmington, CT: Division of Child and Family Studies, Department of Pediatrics, University of Connecticut Health Center. This is a nice, straightforward workbook, with ideas and activities for reflecting family routines and activity-based goals in IEPs. Cost: $6.00.

The steps to creating a better IFSP

The Community Inclusion Project. (1996). Farmington, CT: Division of Child and Family Studies, Department of Pediatrics, University of Connecticut Health Center. A serialized story of the Canaletto family weaves together the sections of this resource which offers content, activities, vignettes and checklists for creating better IFSPs. The sections on promoting participation in natural environments, assigning [transdisciplinary] intervention responsibilities, and evaluating early intervention are particularly strong. Cost: $20.00.

Understanding the Individualized Family Service Plan: A resource for families

Cash, J. A. (1999). Norge, VA: Child Development Resources. (1990) A workbook for familiarizing families with all aspects of theIFSP process. Cost: $18.00.

Inclusion

This section identifies materials for promoting well-designed, integrated environments and programs that supports the development of all young children.

Primary Resources

Achieving inclusion through the IEP process: A workbook for parents

Maryland Coalition for Integrated Education

This workbook was created to help parents in designing Individualized Education Programs (IEPs) and designing strategies for achieving integrated school placements. It is organized in two parts: laying the groundwork for decision making, and achieving inclusion through the IEP process. The activities ("Developing a Vision," and "Creating New Goals and Objectives") include all necessary forms and follow a clear, supportive sequence for families. They could also be activities for training teams who are involved in the design, preparation and implementation of IEPs. This material has been highly recommended (and successfully used) by families.

Best practices in integration (BPI) inservice training model

Susan M. Klein & Susan Kontos

BPI is an inservice training model for persons delivering services for infants, toddlers and preschool children with special needs within community-based early childhood settings. The emphasis of the Guide and Instructional Modules is systems change through community resource networks, a training process to ensure knowledge and skill regarding collaborative consultation by early interventionists, and a technical assistance process to facilitate the integration of young children with special needs in regular early childhood programs and successful collaboration among all partners. These are well thought-out materials and a bargain for the price.

Mainstreaming works: A manual for training child caregivers and integrating children with disabilities in child care settings

Florida State University, Center for Prevention and Early Intervention Policy

These materials were designed for use as a 10-hour training emphasizing strategies for adapting child care environments to meet the needs of young children with disabilities. The manual is organized into seven sections: an instructor's guide, five modules (exploring attitudes, working with families and professionals, recognizing signs of atypical development, facilitating developmentally appropriate environments for children with disabilities, and Illustrations of integration) and an appendix entitled, Answers for owners and operators. The materials are carefully organized and include everything from sample letters to participants to certificates of training completion.

Specialcare curriculum and trainer's manual

Child Development Resources, Inc.

This is a complete core curriculum trainer's manual and supporting materials that can be used to train home- and center-based caregivers to help them care for young children with disabilities in inclusive child care settings. SpecialCare has been field tested with more than 186 home- and center-based child care providers. Evaluation results indicate that caregivers' comfort, knowledge and interest in caring for children with disabilities increased following training. Parents of children with disabilities living in communities where SpecialCare training was provided reported that care was significantly more available following training.

Child Care + curriculum on inclusion: Practical strategies for early childhood programs

Montana University Affiliated Rural Institute on Disabilities. (1999). Missoula, MT: Author. The approach taken by this curriculum is unique: it suggests that by providing high quality care, young children of all abilities will grow and learn successfully. Through 12 chapters, information is offered that ranges from the history of inclusion to building partnerships with families and arranging the environment for learning. Activities, examples and forms are provided throughout. Cost: $66.50.

Children's books and materials

Partnerships for Inclusion. (1995). Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, Author. This is an annotated bibliography of children's books and materials that support inclusion values and practices. The publications described include positive examples of children with cultural differences and developmental differences. A great resource for suggesting books for programs or libraries to order, or for reproduction as a handout to carryover inclusion concepts. Cost: FREE w/SASE.

A circle of inclusion

Learner Managed Designs, Inc. (1989). Lawrence, KS: Author. This 27-minute videotape provides images of children (3–6) with severe and multiple disabilities effectively integrated in Montessori classrooms. Special educators, early educators, and parents of both children with disabilities and children who are developing typically, share initial concerns, experiences, and outcomes. High-quality footage and lots of applications to preservice or inservice. Stock No. 103b. Cost: $99.00.

Educating Peter

Ambrose Video Publishing, Inc. (1993). New York: Author. This 30-minute videotape is the Academy Award-winning story of one child with Down syndrome and his classmates in Mrs. Stallings' third grade class in Blacksburg, Virginia. The video, with accompanying study guide, could be used to illustrate and explore a variety of inclusion concepts. This video has appeal for all ages, including elementary-aged children. Cost: $79.95 plus shipping & handling.

Handbook for the inclusion of young children with severe disabilities

Thompson, B., Wickham, D., Wegner, J., Ault, M. M., Shanks, P., & Reinertson, R. (1992). Lawrence, KS: Learner Managed Designs. Including preschool-age children with disabilities in community settings

deFosset, S., & Danaher, J. (Eds.). (1999). Chapel Hill, NC: Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS. This resource packet comes in three parts. Part I offers perspectives on inclusion, inclusive strategies and practices, and legislative foundations. Part II delineates information sources on inclusive programs and practices, including organizations, consortia, technical assistance centers. It also includes an annotated bibliography. Part III describes resources on inclusion developed by OSEP-funded early childhood projects. Cost: $15.00 (includes shipping and handling of all three parts).

Inclusion: A right, not a privilege

The Community Inclusion Project. (1996). Farmington, CT: Division of Child and Family Studies, Department of Pediatrics, University of Connecticut Health Center. This resource was designed to support families in finding community early childhood programs that meet the needs of their young children with disabilities. It describes what inclusion is, legal rights and entitlements, what a "good" inclusive program looks like, and step-by-step strategies to bring about inclusion. Teaching/training examples abound for many audiences. Cost: $10.00.

Inclusive schooling practices: Pedagogical and research foundations

McGregor, G., & Vogelsberg, R.T. (1998). Baltimore: Paul Brookes. This publication provides a thoughtful synthesis of the literature that informs best practices about inclusive schooling. Methods, models, cases and examples abound, and outcomes are elaborated by group (children with disabilities, children without disabilities, parents, teachers, etc.). You can use this resource instructionally (set up a staged debate, build advocacy) or to guide student research. Royalties from the sale of this publication are being donated to the Public Interest Law Center of Philadelphia in support of their ongoing efforts to assist families in obtaining inclusive school services for their children. Stock #3955 Cost: $24.95.

Just friends

Texas Planning Council on Developmental Disabilities. (1994). Austin, TX: Author. This 16-minute video introduces individuals with disabilities and friends they have made through Community Connections projects in Texas. They share personal stories, thoughts, and experiences while offering examples of the role that friendship can play in breaking the social isolation of individuals with disabilities. A nice vision of future possibilities for families and professionals. Cost: Free at 1-800-262-0334.

Accompanying print material provides some experiential learning activities, discussion questions, and handout prototype. Cost: $25.00.

Making dreams happen: How to facilitate the MAPs process

University of Vermont Center for Transition and Employment. (1997). Waterbury, VT: Division of Vocational Rehabilitation. This 45-minute video discusses and illustrates the MAP (Making Action Plan) approach to planning, with emphasis on plans that relate to IEPs and transitions for students with disabilities. The middle portion shows an abbreviated version of an actual MAPs process and shows a useful illustration of a process that can be used to support an individual with disabilities within the contexts of family, school, home and community. Cost: $9.00 (tape); $3.00 (manual).

Natural environments (Part 1: Linking to the community; Part 2: Implementation in the community)

National Early Childhood Technical Assistance System (NECTAS). (1998). Gibsonia, PA: Distance Learning Center. In 1998, NECTAS coordinated two national videoteleconferences on natural environments for the U.S. Department of Education. After each broadcast, a set of print materials (outline, articles, bibliographies, follow-up activities) and a videotape of the teleconference were produced. There are a variety of worthwhile materials in each set, and the video vignettes on Part 2 are particularly nice illustrations of services in natural environments. Cost: $35.00 for each part (includes videotape and print materials).

Paraprofessional's guide to the inclusive classroom

Doyle, M. B. (1997). Baltimore: Paul Brookes. This handbook is devoted to defining and supporting paraprofessionals (including paraeducators, teachers' aides, educational assistants) in classroom settings. Changing roles and responsibilities, being a team member, supporting individual students, individualized instruction, and communicating with team members are the major topics addressed through information, vignettes, worksheets. While the emphasis is on settings serving older children, many of the ideas apply across the board. Cost: 23.95.

Philadelphia Inclusion Network (PIN): Instructor guidelines and curriculum

Campbell, P., Schneider, L., & Milbourne, S. (1998). Philadelphia: Child and Family Studies Program. This set of 15-modules was designed to assist child care center staff in urban areas in addressing the inclusion of children with disabilities. The modules, on topics that range from Welcoming all children and Promoting full participation to Ain't misbehaving, are complete and clear. A range of options for using the materials as part of ongoing staff development and additional resources (books, tapes, websites) are additional quality features. Cost: $99.00 (including postage).

QuickNotes: Inclusion resources for early childhood professionals

Wesley, P.W., Dennis, B.C., & Tyndall, S.T. (1998). Lewisville, NC: Kaplan Press. QuickNotes is a 10-module set of information sheets covering a broad range of topics related to quality child care in a variety of settings (e.g., typical child development, promoting appropriate behavior, including children with special needs). Each topic is organized in a 3-ring notebook that also provides a resource list of print materials and related web sites. Modules I-IX are provided in both English and Spanish. These are visually engaging, fresh materials that were developed to answer simple questions about early childhood inclusion and to provide quick, written resources on topics related to quality child care. Cost: Modules may be purchased individually and range in price from $17.95 to $24.95. A complete set (Modules I-IX) costs $175.95.

Recipe for life and Moments of reflection

Waletzko, P., & Ressemann, S. (1997). Waite Park, MN: The IDEA Group. Here are two 5-minute videotapes that can promote reflection on issues of diversity and inclusion at the end of a class or presentation. Short, thought-provoking sayings are linked together through visual and auditory methods to create a positive, lasting impression. The tapes can be used separately or together. Cost: $19.95 each.

Rethinking pull-out services in early intervention

McWilliam, R.A. (1996). Baltimore: Paul Brookes. This book explores the barriers and facilitators to the models through which services in center-based early intervention programs are provided (integrated, segregated). It offers research findings, theoretical options, and practical examples on topics that range from consultation and professional identity concerns to service time allotment considerations and discipline-specific strategies. Cost: $43.95.

Samantha

Devault, G., Krug, C., Turnbull, A. P., & Horner, R. (1994). Lawrence, KS: Beach Center on Families and Disability. This video offers very useful instructional examples of creating a successful positive behavioral support plan for a 9 year-old girl with autism. The accompanying print material (Why does Samantha act like that? A positive behavior support story of one family's success) tells the family story and includes plan charts and other instructional material. Cost: Video ($30); print material ($5.25).

Same time, same place

Purdue University, Continuing Education Administration. (1992). West Lafayette, IN: Author. Videotape features children with disabilities in a variety of inclusive settings. Focuses on the roles and responsibilities of multiple disciplines (including a pediatrician) in the inclusion process for children with severe disabilities in child care centers and family child care homes. Cost: $18.00.

Special children, special care

Moffitt, K. (Ed.). (1993). Tampa, FL: University of South Florida. This manual was written for parents as a way to build on pre- and inservice competencies. It has lots of good information on many aspects of early intervention, and is interspersed with quotes from other family members describing their experiences. A valuable reference tool for administrators, families and professionals. Cost: $64.00.

Supporting children with disabilities in early childhood programs

Teaching Research Division, Western Oregon State College. (1992). Monmouth, OR: Author. This 18-minute videotape includes footage of both segregated and integrated approaches as illustrations of past and present approaches to including preschool children with disabilities. Research basis that supports inclusion is cited, along with perspectives of staff, parents, teachers, assistants, and researchers. Cost: $25.00.

To have a friend

Portage Project. (1995). Portage, WI: Author. This video features six minutes of beautiful images of young friends of diverse cultures and abilities in a range of natural environments against a musical backdrop. It could be used to illustrate benefits of inclusion and to explore strategies for encouraging and supporting friendships among all children. Discussion questions, simulation exercises, and resource materials are provided in an accompanying booklet. Cost: $40..00.

Training for inclusion: A guide for the childcare provider

The Community Inclusion Project. (1996). Farmington, CT: Division of Child and Family Studies, Department of Pediatrics, University of Connecticut Health Center. These seven modules on basic inclusion topics (ADA, building partnerships with families, identifying young children with disabilities, implementing interventions through the daily routine, etc.) are designed for use as training or self-study materials. Each module includes objectives, content, activities, self-assessment checks and answer keys. Cost: $25.00.

With kids my age: Answers to questions about inclusion

Inclusion Works! (1994). Austin, TX: Author. This 17-minute, captioned videotape provides compelling answers about inclusive education. Superimposed on footage of culturally diverse elementary and secondary students, are parents, teachers, administrators, and community decision makers who provide practical answers to hard questions. Instructionally, this videotape could be paused after each questions (e.g., Do teachers have the skills to handle inclusion?) to allow students to respond based on research or readings. Cost: $30.00.

Yes, you can do it! Caring for infants and toddlers with disabilities in family child care

The Children's Foundation. (1995). Washington, DC: Author. This 16-minute video offers very positive images and messages from parents and day care providers on the benefits of serving young children with disabilities. The accompanying manual, Caring for infants and toddlers in family day care: Annotated resource directory, offers additional resources to support inclusion, such as training materials. Cost: $34.95 (video & print directory), plus shipping & handling.

Interagency Collaboration

This section includes information and activities that can be used to foster productive collaborative efforts in early intervention.

Primary Resources

Thinking collaboratively: Ten questions and answers to help policy makers improve children's services

Charles Bruner

While this document was not designed as training material, it has excellent applications, especially with inservice audiences of representatives from multiple agencies. Each of the ten questions probes an aspect of collaboration (e.g., How do we know if collaboration is happening and if it is working?) and provides possible responses, along with lists of resources for additional consideration.

Supplemental Resources

Building systems

Association of Maternal and Child Health Programs. (1993, December). McLean, VA: National Maternal and Child Health Clearinghouse. This report is the result of an extensive national survey to describe Title V activities in early intervention and identify perceived barriers to collaboration between Part H and Title V. It offers interesting insights on the subjects of interagency planning, goal setting and systems change. Cost: FREE.

Collaboration: Putting the puzzle pieces together

Collaborative Services Inservice Demonstration Project. (1996). Farmington,CT: Division of Child and Family Studies, Department of Pediatrics, University of Connecticut Health Center. The purpose of this manual is to highlight the important aspects of the collaborative process. It's organized in five modules: Early Intervention Collaborators, Interagency Collaborations, Family Collaborations, Team Collaborations, and Skills for Collaborations. Each module includes vignettes, information and activities that could be used in preservice or inservice settings. Cost: $10.00

Collaboration: What makes it work

Mattesich, P.W. & Monsey, B.R. (1992). St. Paul, MN: Amherst H. Wilder Foundation. This review of research literature on factors influencing successful collaboration is also a terrific training resource. Cost: $14.00.

Collaboration handbook: Creating, sustaining, and enjoying the journey

Winer, M., & Ray, K. (1997). St. Paul, MN: Amherst H. Wilder Foundation. This resource is organized to support interpersonal, organizational, and community collaboration by offering case examples, activities, tools, and resources. It also offers thoughtful strategies for overcoming obstacles to collaboration, including trust, conflict, decision-making, and change. Cost: $28.00.

Continuity in early childhood: A framework for home, school, and community linkages

Regional Educational Laboratories Early Childhood Collaboration Network. (1995, November). Washington, DC: Author. This document defines a framework for considering both transitions to educational programs and linkages between early childhood and elementary school services. In training, this document could be used to explore elements of the transition continuum and how they might be achieved. Cost: $15.00.

Expanding partnerships involving colleges and universities in interprofessional collaboration and service integration

Lawson, H.A., & Hooper-Briar, K. (1994). Oxford, OH: The Danforth Foundation and The Institute for Educational Renewal at Miami University. A very interesting resource focuses on partnerships among schools, community agencies, families, and higher education institutions, including community colleges. Lots of examples, lists, mini-cases, and observations to enrich preservice or inservice discussions of existing, emerging, or potential collaborations. Cost: $6.00.

Moving from principles to practice: A resource guide

American Academy of Pediatrics. (1996). Washington, DC: Author. A document designed to provide the practical skills to translate ideals for community-based interagency collaboration into action. It includes exercises to assist community groups in arriving at consensus, examples of current approaches to collaboration, common obstacles to collaboration (and strategies for getting beyond them), and resources to assist with the process. Cost: $8.00.

New opportunities for collaboration: A policy and implementation resources and training manual for the Head Start regulations for children with disabilities

Division for Early Childhood, Council for Exceptional Children (DEC/CEC), the National Head Start Association, and the Mid-South Regional Resource Center (MSRRC). (1994). Reston, VA: Council for Exceptional Children. This resource is designed to assist in promoting collaboration between Head Start and Part B of IDEA by providing training materials that can promote the consideration of possible linkages. Questions and answers, fact sheets, transparency masters, a side-by-side comparison of Head Start regulations, IDEA regulations, and Head Start Guidance Materials, and a resource directory are provided. Provides great examples for training about aspects of collaboration and legislation. Stock No. D5053. Cost: $17.25 plus shipping.

Putting the pieces together: Comprehensive school-linked strategies for children and families

U.S. Department of Education. (1996, May). Greensboro, NC: SouthEastern Regional Vision for Education (SERVE). This guidebook is designed to help school system representatives, families, and communities in building strong support for the healthy development and learning of children. It offers information and examples on topics including conducting community assessments, finding and developing resources, and moving from vision to action, along with examples of successful collaborations. Cost: $6.00

Together we can: A guide for crafting a profamily system of education and human services

Melaville, A. I., Blank, M. J., & Asayesh, G. (1993, April). Washington, DC: U.S. Government Printing Office. This book, developed jointly by the U.S. Department of Education and U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, leads readers through a five-stage collaborative process with milestones and landmines portrayed through vignettes and case studies. For a copy, call Susan Talley at (202) 219-2129. Stock No. 065-000-06563-8. Cost: $12.00.

Towards improved services for children and families: Forging new relationships through collaboration

Blank, M. J., & Lombardi, J. (1991, July). Washington, DC: Institute for Educational Leadership. A policy brief that also suggests strategies that communities can take toward collaboration. Cost: $4.50.

What it takes: Structuring interagency partnerships to connect children and families with comprehensive services

Melaville, A. I., & Blank, M. J. (1991). Washington, DC: Education and Human Services Consortium. The sections on guidelines for new partners and assessing the need for interagency partnerships could be easily converted into great training activities. Cost: $5.00.

Legislation

This section describes materials for sharing information about early intervention legislation and policies that affect young children and families.

Supplemental Resources

Alabama's early intervention system

Alabama State Department of Education, Division of Rehabilitation Services. (1993). Montgomery, AL: Author. This videotape is divided into five segments (child find, evaluation & assessment, IFSP, service coordination, child & parent rights) for ease of use. Segments could be used independently or together to explore aspects of federal and state legislation. Cost: Free.

CEC special education advocacy handbook

Bootel, J.A. (1994). Reston, VA: Council for Exceptional Children. A well-organized resource with basic information and examples specific to special education advocacy and policy making. Clear materials on legislative and regulatory processes, effective communication skills, and the media for use in teaching or coalition building. This is a scaled-down, economy version of CEC's Political advocacy handbook. Item No. R5087. Cost: $17.00.

Early intervention: Essential information for primary health care providers

Shishmanian, E., & Helm, D. T. (1993, September). Boston: Massachusetts Departmant of Public Health. This manual, for physicians and primary health care providers, contains esential information about early intervention services for very young children. This information is divided into two sections: the first includes excerpts from the federal law that defines these services and the second relates to the system in Massachusetts. The federal information and several nice case vignettes make this a valuable resource. It could also serve as a model, by replacing the Massachusetts-specific information, for other states to use. Cost: FREE.

Early intervention on the move

Child Development Resources, Inc. (1999). Norge, VA: Author. This 14-minute tape likens the interrelated components of Part C of IDEA to the parts of a bicycle. This is a revised version of the original (1992) tape and offers a light overview that could easily be paired with in-depth exploration of law/bicycle "parts". Cost: $49.95.

IDEA 1997: Let's make it work

CEC Public Policy Unit. (1998). Reston, VA: Council for Exceptional Children. This new resource on IDEA 1977 answers critical questions and provides a concise summary of the IDEA reauthorization legislation. A good, current resource for teaching or training. Cost: $22.95; $15.95 for CEC members.

New faces of opportunity: A physician's guide to the Maryland Infants and Toddlers Program

Maryland Infants and Toddlers Program. (1993). Baltimore, MD: Author. This publication delineates "opportunities" for physicians within Maryland's Part H program by providing information about efficacy, reimbursement, resources, and—most important— the critical roles that doctors can play. Could be used for training or modified for use by another state. Cost: $5.00.

A new IDEA: A parent's guide to the changes in special education law for children with disabilities

Seltzer, T. (1998). Washington, DC: Judge David L. Bazelon Center for Mental Health Law. The 1997 reauthorization brought changes in several components of IDEA. This publication is structured as a series of questions and answers about the law and key changes. Discipline for special education students and implications of the changes for students with emotional and behavioral problems are highlighted; Part C implications are not. FREE. Download the document in English or in Spanish from the Bazelon Center's WorldWide Web site (www.bazelon.org).

A new IDEA for special education: Understanding the system and the new law video developed as a guide for parents and a tool for educators

Edvantage Media, Inc. (1998). Fair Haven, NJ: Author. This video was designed to help parents and educators better understand recent changes to IDEA, the law governing special education. Key areas covered include the new law, the referral process, the evaluation process, creating an IEP, placement and related services, preparing for transitions, and discipline, mediation and standardized testing. Cost: $49.95 plus postage and handling.

Orientation to First Steps: An independent study

Unified Training System. (1998). Bloomington, IN: UTS Connect. This independent study packet is designed to familiarize parents and family members, providers, local planning council members, and others with Indiana's early intervention system (First Steps). Content covered includes early intervention law, procedural safeguards, family-centered practices, cultural competency, point of entry, and the Central Reimbursement Office. While much of the material is specific to Indiana, this is a nice example of how to structure self-paced learning materials. Cost: Request from UTS Connect.

Political advocacy handbook

Bootel, J.A., & Warger, C.L. (1997). Reston, VA: Council for Exceptional Children. This easy-to-use handbook delineates what motivates policymakers, what catches their attention, and what makes them respond. Through materials designed to demystify policymaking, this resource provides preservice and inservice materials for learning about public policy, the legislative process, and advocacy. Cost: $60.00 for members; $85.70 for non-members.

Programs for young children under IDEA

National Early Childhood Technical Assistance System (NECTAS). (1999). This compilation includes the Executive Summary of the 20th Annual Report to Congress on IDEA and chapters on key issues (1997 IDEA amendments, using IFSPs with preschoolers, funding of IDEA, national trends in special education teacher demand and shortage). This could be a great resource for discussing early childhood education law and policy. Chapel Hill, NC: Author. Cost: $6.00.

State legislative leaders: Keys to effective legislation for children and families

Children and Families Program, State Legislative Leaders Foundation. (1995). Centerville, MA: Author. This resource was developed to provide advocates with effective strategies and information for increasing legislative awareness of and emphasis on child and family issues. It offers insights to the way legislators think and act, advocacy techniques, and samples (letters, interviews, etc.). Could be a valuable resource in shaping the next generation of advocates. Cost: Free.

Service Coordination

This section identifies materials for teaching others about case management and service coordination.

Primary Resources

Case management for children's mental health: A training curriculum for child-serving agencies

Irene Nathan Zipper & Marie Weil, Editors

This curriculum, designed for use with case managers, supervisors, service providers and families, provides methods and materials to teach the values, knowledge and skills needed to provide effective service coordination. Fourteen chapters on issues ranging from diversity and cultural competence to teams provide clearly stated goals, measurable objectives, detailed presenter notes, activities and worksheets, reproducible handouts, masters for transparencies, and related readings. These materials address service coordination from the mental health perspective in a manner that could easily be extended for use with diverse (health, education, social services) training audiences.

Overview of family-centered service coordination: Facilitator's guide

Project Copernicus, Kennedy Krieger Institute

This training program is one in a series (Train the Trainer Series in Family-Centered Service Delivery) designed to address key issues in family-centered care. The overall format is specific and detailed in outlining the "how to" of facilitating training sessions. The "session at a glance" reviews the approximate time necessary to complete each of the eight activities, which focus on defining service coordination, key elements of family-centered practices, evolution and changes in service coordination, qualities of effective relationships with families, and specific roles/activities associated with service coordination. A structured, step-by-step guide provides facilitators with the purpose, time required, learning strategies, and specific materials needed for each activity, but allows for individualized applications of the materials.

Parents and professionals: Partners in co-service coordination

Peggy Rosin, Amy Whitehead, Linda Tuchman, George Jesien & Audrey Begun

This 20-minute videotape uses stories of three families with young children representing diversity in ethnicity, family structure and disability. The videotape and accompanying discussion guide could be useful in training diverse audiences involved in service coordination in early intervention. As part of a longer sequence of training about service coordination (see below-listed Partnerships in early intervention), the videotape could be a discussion starter.

Pathways: A training and resource guide for enhancing skills in early intervention service coordination

Peggy Rosin, Meredith Green, Liz Hecht, Linda Tuchman, & Sue Robbins

This curriculum is designed to enhance skills and knowledge to meet the challenges of service coordination for preservice and inservice audiences. The materials include an introduction and four content sections: 1) getting started in the IFSP process; 2) follow-along and implementation of the IFSP; 3) responding to unexpected, immediate needs, or crisis; and 4) facilitating transitions. Each content is further divided into definitions, a framework for enhancing skills and knowledge, personal and interpersonal skills, and integrating skills and knowledge. This multi-faceted resource can be used for inservice training, preservice training, or self-study.

Supplemental Resources

Colorado guidelines for service coordination

Miller, J., & Petersen, S. (1999). Denver, CO: Colorado Department of Education. This thoughtful booklet delineates a vision and guidelines for service coordination and illustrates them with many suggestions, checklists, guiding questions and family stories. Instructionally, the Colorado-specific examples could be used to compare/contrast with other the policies and procedures of other states and the stories could be used as mini-cases. Cost: Single copies are free from Sandy Petersen at the Colorado Department of Education.

Family-centered service coordination for early intervention: Parents and professionals

Zipper, I. N., Hinton, C., Weil, M., & Rounds, K. (1993). Cambridge, MA: Brookline. Monograph designed as a resource to assist professionals, parents, programs, localities and states in their work to build effective systems. Cost: $19.95.

First glance: Tips for service coordination

Whitehead, A., Brown, L. & Rosin, P. (1993). Madison, WI: Wisconsin Personnel Development Project. This booklet covers 12 topics related to service coordination such as informal support networks, advocacy, key financial resources and eco-maps. Each section is designed to provide information and additional resources; most could easily be used as training activities. Authored by a parent-professional team, this resource includes useful information for both family members and service providers. Cost: $5.00.

A new role for the early interventionist: Case manager

Lowenthal, B. (1991). Infant-Toddler Intervention: The Transdisciplinary Journal, 1(3), 191-198. This article summarizes many of the changes in roles and responsibilities initiated by the new federal legislation.

Pathways in early intervention service coordination

Rosin, P. (1996). Madison, WI: Waisman Center. Videotape illustrates challenges faced in the provision of early intervention service coordination through four scenarios. Accompanying guide highlights key issues, important skills, and provides discussion question and activities for promoting the development of skills in each area. Cost: $80.00 (video & guide).

Pathways trail mix: A collection of ideas and training activities in early intervention service coordination

Rosin, P., Green, M., Hecht, L., & Robbins, S. (1998). Madison, WI: Waisman Center. Here's a new resource for those involved in training personnel in early intervention service coordination. Easy to use large and small group activities (warm-ups, energizers, stories, vignettes, role plays, eco-maps, panels) are provided, along with an extensive bibiliography, tips for trainers, and strategies for supervisors/ administrators. Cost: $35.00

Specific Populations

This section includes instructional resources targeted to audiences including medical personnel, paraprofessionals, practitioners who serve parents with special needs, children infected with HIV, premature infants, and individuals who are homeless.

Health Personnel

Early intervention: The physician's role in referral

Rosalyn Benjamin Darling

This instructional package is designed to be used for inservice education of physicans and includes a 40-minute videotape and accompanying resource manual. The tape, which has been endorsed by physicians, makes viewers aware of parents' need for information and support early in their children's lives. It provides information about communicating with parents of young children with disabilities and making referrals to early intervention programs. The resource manual provides suggestions for use of the materials in formats of varying duration.

Supplemental Resources

Caring for infants and toddlers with disabilities: A self-study manual for physicians

Seklemian, P., Scott, F. G., & Garland, C. W. (1993, August). Norge, VA: Child Development Resources. This well-designed, competency-based product responds to physician-generated requests for information and skills that will enable them to be full participants in statewide early intervention system. For information about the materials or the training through which they are provided, contact Child Development Resources directly.

Early intervention in Alabama: A guide for physicians

Alabama Department of Rehabilitation Services. (1994). Montgomery, AL: Author. This state-specific compilation could serve as a model for other states in providing essential Part H information to physicians. Sample early intervention forms (Child Find Referral Form, IFSP), key agency contacts (local and state), networks (parent organizations, disability-specific organizations), and toll-free numbers are listed, making this book a useful resource. This publication is free.

Health professions education and relationship-centered care

Tresolini, C.P. & the Pew-Fetzer Task Force. (1994). San Francisco, CA: Pew Health Professions Commission. A nice resource containing some excellent teaching examples of the knowledge, skills, and values essential to providing relationship-centered care. This monograph also contains information on the characteristics of effective medical schools and how more relationship-centered medical training might be implemented. Cost: $12.00.

It wasn't supposed to happen

Nemours Center for Biomedical Communication. (1994). Wilmington, DE: Author. This eight-minute videotape was designed to help families and medical professionals explore ways that information sharing can be done more effectively. Personal messages from family members who have children with rare genetic conditions offer insights about what's helpful, what's hurtful, and the value of parent-to-parent support. Cost: Free of charge to training programs. $24.95 to others.

Managed care maze: What about the children?

Robson, S. (1997). Fairfax, VA: Parent Educational Advocacy Training Center (PEATC). This 30-minute videotape follows several culturally diverse families as they negotiate the health care systems in which their families are part. Through planning and team work, they work together with their doctors to solve problems and develop strategies for dealing with health care bureaucracies. These same illustrations, along with accompanying guides (one for family members and one for physicians), could be used instructionally to discuss and explore managed health care issues. Cost: $33.00 for family members; $53.00 for others (includes postage).

Medical Education Project: Incorporating the principles of family-centered care in physician education

DiVenere, N., & Witkin, K. (1999). Winooski, VT: Parent to Parent of Vermont. This package (video & manual) describes a training model designed to provide medical students with the opportunity to recognize, acknowledge, and, hopefully adjust, their personal beliefs about individuals with disabilities. Objectives, activities, and materials for class-based instruction and family practicum components are provided, along with a description of the experiences of others in using these approaches. Available September 1999. Cost: Please contact source.

Nurses, physicians, psychologists, & social workers within statewide early intervention systems: Clarifying roles under Part H of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act

Von Rembow, D., & Sciarillo, W. (1993). Bethesda, MD: Association for the Care of Children's Health. This collection of role clarification papers was developed by Part H and the ICC in Maryland to facilitate the effective participation of representatives of these disciplines in the early intervention system. Order #3085. Cost: $13.00.

Physician technical assistance papers

First Steps (Kentucky's Early Intervention System). (1993). Frankfort, KY: Department of Mental Health/ Mental Retardation, Division of Mental Retardation. These materials were designed to provide practicing physicians with basic information about Part H of IDEA, and the roles and responsibilities of physicians under this legislation. Great examples that could easily be modified. One free copy per state can be ordered from Frankfort Habilitation, 3755 U.S. 127 South, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Paraprofessionals

Current trends in the use of paraprofessionals in early intervention and preschool services

Striffler, N. (1993). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS. This paper synthesizes current thinking, issues and practices related to the use of paraprofessionals in the provision of early intervention services to children with disabilities. Cost: $5.00.

Early childhood: The role of the paraprofessional

Institute on Community Integration (UAP). (1999, November). Minneapolis: Publications Department, Institute on Community Integration, University of Minnesota. This is a well-organized resource for assisting instructors to plan and prepare to teach paraprofessional audiences about key early childhood topics. Each chapter of the facilitator's manual includes student goals, discussion questions, activities, and materials and topics covered include child development, individualized planning, classrooms, families, cross-cultural competence,etc. The participant's manual includes forms, formats, readings, and other information to promote application of the concepts covered. Cost: $15.00 (facilitator's manual); $10.00 (participant's manual).

Parents with Special Needs

Parents with special needs/mental retardation: A handbook for early intervention

Marilyn Espe-Sherwindt, Sandra Kerlin, Christina Beatty & Suzanne Crable

This handbook provides material and strategies that could be helpful in meeting the needs of families in which parents have special needs/mental retardation. The material is divided into five sections: "An Early Intervention Model," "Understanding of Parents with Special Needs/Mental Retardation," "Intervention Principles and Strategies," "Evaluating Progress," and "Resources." This resource will be helpful if you provide training to folks who work with parents with special needs/mental retardation.

Pediatric AIDS

Pediatric AIDS Foster Care NETWORK BULLETIN

Leake & Watts. (Ongoing). Yonkers, NY: Author. This periodical from the Specialized Foster Care Training and Technical Assistance Project provides current information about working with children who are HIV-positive or have AIDS (914/376-4415). Cost: Free.

Premature Infants

Developmental intervention for hospitalized infants

Georgetown University Child Development Center

This series of ten videotapes is intended to illustrate ways that health professionals and family members can promote the development of hospitalized infants. One set targets development for infants in the neonatal intensive care unit (NICU) and includes modules on "Premie Development," "The Premie and the NICU Environment," "Positioning and Handling the High-risk Infant," "The Growing Premie," "Helping Families," "Parenting the Acutely Ill Infant," and "Parenting the Growing Premie." The other set focuses on the pediatric unit and includes modules on "Promoting Development," "Helping Families," and "Parenting the Infant with Prolonged Hospitalization." Each videotape is accompanied by a study guide that provides learner objectives, an overview, related activities, additional resources and a pre-/post-test. Developed by Georgetown's UAP and Department of Neonatology.

Supporting families and their prematurely born babies: A guide for training care providers

Valerie Thom, Gloria Krahn, B. John Hale, Margaret Keller, Marilyn Hartzell & Anne Mette Smeenk

This training guide and the accompanying videotape are intended for training medical, allied health care, and early intervention providers who work with biologically high-risk infants and their families. The guide contains five training modules in each of two units. Unit 1 (Infants, Families and Providers) offers sections on P.L. 99-457, infant competency, individual differences, and emotional milestones, parental perceptions and family dynamics, providers' issues, and community networks. Unit 2 (The Preterm Experience) presents units on medical terminology, parenting experiences in the NICU, preterm infant development, parent-infant interaction and approaches to family support. The videotape is divided into five segments of which the fifth segment is both the most current and the most relevant to training.

Prenatal Exposure

The future of children: Drug exposed infants

Center for the Future of Children, The David and Lucile Packard Foundation. (1991). Los Altos, CA: Author. This issue presents information on the medical/phamacologic and long term development effects of prenatal exposure to legal and illegal substances, including cigarettes, alcohol, heroin, narcotics, marijuana, and cocaine. It also offers viewpoints from child welfare, law, economics, and ethics professionals on the service implications, cost implications, and possible responses to working with families whose infants are drug-exposed. This and other publications in the Future of Children series are available online at http://www.futureofchildren.org/

Resources related to children and their families affected by alcohol and other drugs

Hargrove, E., Daulton, D., Melner J., & Shackelford, J. (1994). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS. This resource guide describes a variety of resources that serve young children and their families affected by substance use. It is organized into three sections: national training and information resources; state programs and agencies; and federal funding sources. Cost: $5.00.

Special Health Needs

Medically fragile infants and toddlers: An interdisciplinary training curriculum

JFK Center for Developmental Disabilities

This curriculum recognizes that there are different priorities, resources and schedules across different training settings (including preservice vs. inservice) and is structured to be flexible. It includes seven topical modules: "Overview," "Family Adjustment and Family-centered Services," "Interdisciplinary Team Assessment," "Interdisciplinary Team Intervention," "Feeding Problems," "Service Coordination," and "Community Integration." Intended for implementation by an interdisciplinary training team, it includes learning objectives, topics, notes, bibliographies, discussion questions and additional activities for each module. While the primary mode for training is lecture, ideas and resources could easily be modified into more interactive options.

Children with special health needs: Bibliography of selections

National Center for Education in Maternal and Child Health. (1993). Arlington, VA: Author. This uncopyrighted (i.e., freely reproducible) guide includes a descriptive overview of federal and state programs for children with special health needs, an annotated list of current publications, a list of organizations that can provide additional information and a list of state directors of programs for children with special health needs. The section on Financing Services is particularly helpful in identifying resources on funding for families. Cost: $5.00.

State Planning & Resource Development

This section includes resources to assist states in setting up structures to support and link the components of personnel development (recruitment, preparation, qualification, support, and retention).

Efficacy

The effectiveness of early intervention

Guralnick, M.J. (Ed.). (1997). Baltimore: Paul H. Brookes Publishing Co. This book summarizes and interprets research and program outcomes in early intervention since the passage of P.L. 99-457. It provides direction for second-generation research in the field and a background for understanding and addressing many aspects of early intervention service delivery. Cost: $79.00.

Florida's children: Their future is in our hands

Florida State University, Center for Prevention and Early Intervention Policy. (1994). Tallahassee, FL: Author. This is a handbook on the causes and costs of preventing disabilities and at-risk conditions in young children through educational, maternal and child health programs that work. It presents useful and compelling data useful to trainers, policy makers and advocates, and offers a format that could be helpful to other states and regions. Cost: $15.00.

RIDE project: Early intervention

Ohio Valley Educational Cooperative. (1996). LaGrange, KY: Author. This is a 20-minute videotape designed for community agencies and practitioners to increase awareness of the importance and effectiveness of early intervention. Perhaps the best feature of this tape is a pediatrician's description of the research basis for and cost effectiveness of early intervention. Cost: $19.00.

Eligibility

Eligibility policies and practices for young children under Part B of IDEA

Danaher, J. (1998). Chapel Hill, NC: NECTAS. This synthesis reflects the requirements and options to states under the 1997 Amendments to IDEA. Along with language taken directly from the IDEA statute, analyses are presented for the states and jurisdictions regarding their eligibility criteria and classifications. Cost: $3.00.

State and jurisdictional eligibility definitions for infants and toddlers with disabilities under IDEA

Shackelford, J. (1998, January). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS. A major challenge to policy makers in implementing the Early Intervention Program for Infants and Toddlers with Disabilities (Part C) is determining who is eligible for services. This paper discusses how the 50 states and 7 jurisdictions that participate define developmental delay and at-risk. This is a handy resource for considering or exploring a variety of cost and service delivery issues. Cost: $3.00. Also available for free at www.nectas.unc.edu/pubs/publis+1.html#asselig

Financing

NECTAS information update on health care reform

National Early Childhood Technical Assistance System Health Care Reform Work Group. (1994, April). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS. A handy collection of resources on health care reform, with emphasis on the perspectives of families and advocates. Cost: $6.00.

Projecting the costs of early intervention services: Four states' experiences

Perry, D. F. (1993). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS. This publication was inspired by frequent questions from states seeking to determine the cost of implementing Part H and requesting data from NECTAS that could be used to answer questions from their legislature or budget office. The examples are intended to serve as methodological models for states undertaking cost studies, or as a gauge for states to measure estimates that they have received. $5.00.

Implementation

Implementing early intervention: From research to effective practice

Bryant, D. M., & Graham, M. A. (Eds.). (1993). New York: The Guilford Press. This book was published to express the most current thinking of researchers in the major areas of early intervention. Lots of data, theory, and questions that could be used as effective background information for discussion of applications and policy development. Catalog #2247. Cost: $39.50.

Monitoring & Evaluation

Alaska Early Intervention/ Infant Learning Program monitoring tool

Alaska Department of Health and Social Services. (1994). Fairbanks, AK: Author. This resource captures the program monitoring process and instrument used by the state of Alaska. The underlying philosophy of the standards reflected in these materials is that within certain guidelines, programs must have the flexibility to address issues in accordance with community and family norms. The examples could be used as a model by other states, as exercises for inservice training, or as teaching examples for students. Cost: FREE.

Charting change in infants, families and services: A guide to program evaluation for administrators and practitioners

ZERO TO THREE/National Center for Clinical Infant Programs. (1987). Arlington, VA: Author. This booklet describes the benefits of families and professionals engaging in ongoing evaluation to help answer the question, "What are our early intervention programs achieving?" Stock No. 16. Cost: $4.00.

Part B Services

Section 619 profile

deFosset, S.(1999, May)(9th ed.). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS. A profile representing information from all 60 states and jurisdictions reflecting their major state activities related to Part B-Section 619. Cost: $6.00.

Part C Services

Part C updates

National Early Childhood Technical Assistance System (NECTAS) and the Office of Special Education Programs (OSEP). (1998, December). Chapel Hil: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS. This publication assembles a variety of information on the policies and practices in the states and jurisdictions that participate in the Program for Infants and Toddlers with Disabilities of IDEA. It has resource material on implementation of Part C services (definitions, managed care activity, age focus, etc.) and a clean copy of the IDEA Amendments of 1997. Cost: $12.00.

Personnel Development

Faculty directory

Wisconsin Higher Education Consortium on Early Intervention. (1994). Madison, WI: Wisconsin Personnel Development Project. This directory is part of Wisconsin's strategy for engaging higher education representatives in addressing personnel preparation. It illustrates a format for identifying individuals who could be drawn on in a variety of ways—including interdisciplinary and inservice training.

The speakers bureau directory

Maryland Infants and Toddlers Program. (1991). Baltimore, MD: Maryland Infants and Toddlers Program. A statewide directory designed to disseminate information about resources that are available to provide expertise on diverse topics in early intervention. Cost: $5.00.

Personnel Shortages

Shortages in professions working with young children with disabilities and their families

Hebbeler, K. (1994). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, NECTAS. This monograph provides professionals, advocates, parents, administrators, program planners and policy makers with the best available information with which to formulate a strategic response to the shortages of early intervention personnel. This paper examines national data on the current work force, describes current shortages in five key disciplines and discusses possible responses to the problem. Cost: $5.00.

Planning

Early intervention self-assessment and planning guide on family-centered services and interagency collaboration: Facilitator's manual

Wisconsin Personnel Development Project. (1992). Madison, WI: Author. Document contains a series of activiites designed to stimulate discussion about how birth-to-three program requirements and "best practices" are being implemented in local communities. Cost: $10.00.

Policy Implementation

Handbook for ethical policy making

North Carolina Institute for Policy Studies. (1992). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center. The original purpose of this handbook was to provide appropriate information that can be used by policy boards in the development and writing of guidelines for implementation of Part H. However, the vignettes, examples and ideas provided could easily be modified for use in assisting diverse preservice and inservice audiences to appreciate the complexities of the key issues in family-centered policy design. Cost: $7.50.

The study of federal policy implementation: Infants/toddlers with disabilities and their families

Gallagher, J. J. (1993). Chapel Hill: UNC-CH, Frank Porter Graham Child Development Center, Carolina Policy Studies Program. This document is a synthesis of the efforts by states to implement Public Law 99-457, Part H with particular emphasis on the areas of eligibility, policies for families, personnel preparation, finance, interagency coordination, health coordination and data systems. Cost: $5.00.

Recommended Practices

Guidelines for preparation of early childhood professionals

National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), Division of Early Childhood, Council for Exceptional Children (DEC/CEC), & National Board for Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS). (1996). Washington, DC: NAEYC. This book combines into one source the early childhood profession's agreed-upon standards for teacher preparation, including NAEYC guidelines to help institutions develop preparation programs and guide states in teacher licensure, standards for preparation of early childhood educators/special educators, and licensure recommendations. Cost: $5.00.

National standards for nursing practice for early intervention services

American Nurses Association. (1993, October). Lexington,KY: University of Kentucky. Developed to describe nursing's scope of practice and develop standards supportive of nursing's diverse and significant contributions to the care of infants, young children and families. Cost: FREE.

Technical Assistance

Lessons learned: Provision of technical assistance to states

Pizzo, P., Griffin, A., Keith, H., Argenta, D., & Szanton, E. (1993, April). Arlington, VA: ZERO TO THREE/ National Center for Clinical Infant Programs. This monograph shares the findings of technical assistance provided under the Better Care for the Babies (BCTB) Project. It reports on lessons learned about the technical assistance that was provided (in attempts to improve the quality of infant child care), and offers insights that could be used to assist state planning. Cost: $9.00.

Tracking Systems

Keeping track: Tracking systems for high-risk infants and young children

Berman, C., Biro, P., & Fenichel, E. S. (Eds.). (1989). Arlington, VA: ZERO TO THREE/National Center for Clinical Infant Programs. Document shares state-of-the-art development and refinement in tracking systems. Stock No. 29. Cost: $15.00.

Warning signals: Basic criteria for tracking at-risk infants and toddlers

Blackman, J. (1986). Arlington, VA: ZERO TO THREE/National Center for Clinical Infant Programs. Identifies criteria to consider in establishing tracking systems for infants and toddlers who are at risk for developmental delays. Stock No. 67. Cost: $3.50.

Teams

This section includes materials for promoting teamwork.

Primary Resources

Interdisciplinary teamwork: A guide for trainers and viewers

Virginia Institute for Developmental Disabilities

This two-part video emphasizes the effects of team process on the recipients of team service, young children with disabilities and their families. Both segments provide the opportunity to see a team in action, first not functioning effectively (Part 1: A Team in Name Only) and then learning to work together (Part 2: Becoming an Effective Team). The video and training guide were designed to facilitate discussion and analysis of both positive and negative team processes (disagreement among team members, not honoring family priorities, using jargon, etc.). The guide provides background information, training objectives, a content outline, and suggested learning activities which can be for preservice or inservice training.

Skills inventory for teams (SIFT)

Corinne W. Garland, Adrienne Frank, Deana Buck, & Patti Seklemian

The SIFT is an inventory of skills needed to function as part of an early intervention team. The instrument is divided into Team and Team Member sections. The Team section examines overall team functioning; the Team Member section examines individual teamwork skills. Each section is organized with a screening scale and an assessment checklist. The screening scales help teams and individual team members identify key areas of need and strength regarding teamwork. The checklists then help clarify and prioritize for improvement in the targeted areas. Directions and forms are provided, along with forms for creating development plans. This instrument could be a valuable team-based decision-making activity.

Stages of group development

Project Vision

This 32-minute videotape opens with an overview of the stages of team development: forming, storming, norming and performing, with information about what can be expected at each phase. These concepts are further defined by showing a group in the process of endeavoring to become a team. Four distinct segments of this group's interactions, each representing a phase of team development, are presented, followed by a recap of the key concepts. This videotape, which shows successful group problem-solving, positive parent participation, and shared learning from different viewpoints, could easily be used in conjunction with "A Team in Name Only"(above), which illustrates miscommunications and absence of collaboration. Selected portions of the tape could also be used in training to illustrate skillful group facilitation and successful conflict resolution.

Teaming

Jennifer Olson & Cari Lee Murphy

These multi-faceted materials were developed as part of the BEST (Building Effective Successful Teams) series. Key to the set is the training manual, which includes eight chapters covering team development, roles, group norms, communication, conflict management, goal setting, effective meetings, and action planning. Each chapter is packed with information, activities, questionnaires, and other materials for addressing the content. Three related videotapes (Navigating new pathways: Obstacles to Collaboration, Stages of group development: Overcoming roadblocks to team development, and Navigating new pathways: Effective meetings) and a facilitator's guide complete the package, which was designed to be offered as a 30-hour self-directed course. A workbook for an abbreviated version of the same program (15 hours) is also available. An introductory video, Teaming: The BEST Way, which was produced solely for promotional value, highlights in 10 minutes the key features of the inservice training model which has rich materials and ideas for preservice and inservice training.

Supplemental Resources

Administrative [team] challenges in early intervention

Garland, C. W., & Linder, T. W. (1994). In L. Johnson, R. J. Gallagher, M. J. LaMontagne, J. B. Jordan, J.J. Gallagher, P.L. Hutinger, & M.B. Karnes, (Eds.), Meeting early intervention challenges: Issues from birth to three (2ND ed.). Baltimore, MD: Paul H. Brookes. This chapter deals with aspects of teamwork in early intervention, including administrative aspects of teaming and transdisciplinary teamwork. Cost: $30.00.

Collaborative working relationships

Elder, J.O. (1994). Austin, TX: J.O. Elder Associates. The activities and formats included in this two-part resource address key areas of getting people to work together effectively, including understanding and appreciating differences, motivation for collaboration, and roles and responsibilities for collaboration. The facilitator's manual provides all instructinal materials for delivering four 3-1/2 hour modules, including interactive learning activities and transparency masters. The accompanying participant's workbook contains 35 interactive projects and assessment tools, the Personal Development Profile (a learning instrument to identify work behavioral strengths), and a supplemental reading list. Cost: Manual-$45.00; Workbook; $25.00.

Consultation, collaboration and teamwork for students with special needs

Dettmer, P., Dyck, N., & Thurston, L.P. (1999). Needham Heights, MA: Allyn & Bacon. This book is packed with information, checklists, self-assessments, and forms for promoting family-centered collaborations. Liberally sprinkled throughout this text are scenarios and vignettes, which can be used as mini-cases, and applications, which are alternative assignments for extending learning into real life settings. One entire chapter is devoted to professional development for collaboration! Cost: $59.00.

Facilitator's guide to participatory decision-making

Kaner, S. (1996). Gabriola Island, British Columbia: New Society Publishers/Canada. This 8-chapter source book offers methods, skills and tools for supporting groups in working together to make wise decisions. Clear useful ideas and materials for encouraging full participation, promoting mutual understanding, fostering inclusive solutions, and teaching new thinking skills are provided. Cost: $24.95.

Improving work groups

Francis, D., & Young, D. (1992). San Diego, CA: Jossey-Bass. Materials focused on the underlying concepts of working teams include 25 activities that enable teams to work through "blockages" and other elements that inhibit success. One tool, the Team-Review Survey, contains statements related to team effectiveness that can be used to assess team functioning, strengths, and barriers. Cost: $39.95.

Leadership: The vision beyond the doorway

Collaborative Services Inservice Demonstration Project. (1997). Farmington, CT: Division of Child and Family Studies, Department of Pediatrics, University of Connecticut Health Center. Materials with which to explore new ways of working together, creative ways of funding that work, and innovative ways to use teaching and training to support those new ideas are included in this manual. It includes seven modules on specific aspects of teamwork and collaboration, including leadership, strategic planning, managing change, overcoming barriers, and changing public policy. Each module includes information, activities, and additional resources that could be used for teaching, training, or personal development. Cost: $20.00.

Navigating new pathways: Obstacles to collaboration

Olson, J. (1994). Moscow, ID: Idaho Center on Developmental Disabilities, University of Idaho. This 15-minute videotape is organized in five short scenarios that reflect different team challenges in a sample inclusive Head Start classroom. No pat answers are provided, but lots of opportunities for discussion of team challenges in areas including communication, roles, planning, differing philosophies, and training. Cost: $55.00.

Overcoming roadblocks to team development

Olson, J. (1994). Moscow, ID: Idaho Center on Developmental Disabilities, University of Idaho. This videotape is the sequel to Stages of Group Development (see above). It helps groups recognize common roadblocks to team development and then reviews four strategies for overcoming these roadblocks. This video could be used to assist self-awareness and problem-solving for students or practitioners. Cost: $55.00.

Parker Team Player Survey

Parker, G. M. (1991).Tuxedo, NY: XICOM. This instrument allows you to identify and understand your primary style(s) and strengths as a team player. A great resource for helping team members recognize their contributions and plan to increase overall team effectiveness. Stock No. 4913. Cost: $6.50.

Project Relationship: Creating & sustaining a nurturing community

Poulsen, M.K., & Cole, C.K. (1996). Los Angeles: Los Angeles Unified School District. This 41-minute (5 segment) videotape depicts a family and professionals working together to meet the needs of a young child with significant behavioral issues. Along with accompanying written material, it provides a nice model for practitioners who want to develop their skills for planning effectively with families. Cost: FREE.

The story of the goose

Training Resource Center/NJDA. (1992). Richmond, KY: Eastern Kentucky University. This four-minute video tells the story of how geese have developed a model of team work and cooperation that can be an inspiration to even the most cynical. Cost: $65.00.

Team Practices Profile

Frank, A., & Garland, C.W. (1997). Norge, VA: Child Development Resources. The core of this document is a self-rating checklist for early intervention teams. Completion of the checklist and identification of next steps can assist teams in moving toward more family-centered, transdisciplinary service delivery and promote better team problem solving. Cost: $39.95.

Team-building source book

Phillips, S.L., & Elledge, R.L. (1989). San Diego, CA: Jossey-Bass. Fully-reproducible activities and materials for a single team building exercise or a sequence of team building events. Eleven modules of varying length (15 minutes to three hours) are included on aspects of teamwork, each complete with objectives, instructions, sample assessment materials, and handouts. Stock No. 545C17. Cost: $99.95.

Thomas-Kilmann conflict mode instrument

Thomas, K. W., & Kilmann, R. H. (1991). Tuxedo, NY: XICOM. Instrument for examining how individuals deal with situational conflict and for planning conflict-resolution approaches. Stock No. 4813. Cost: $6.50.

Transdisciplinary play-based intervention

Linder, T. W. (1993). Baltimore, MD: Paul H. Brookes Publishing Co. This monograph provides creative strategies for promoting cognitive, social-emotional, communication and language, and sensorimotor development. Using the Transdisciplinary Play-Based Intervention (TPBI) Planner, team members can choose activities to design individualized family service plans and individualized education programs. Cost: $49.95.

Transdisciplinary teaming in the preschool classroom

Early Childhood Collaborative Services Project. (1996). Farmington, CT: Division of Child and Family Studies, Department of Pediatrics, University of Connecticut Health Center. This is a concise package of ideas for addressing transdisciplinary issues within the context of the preschool classroom. Information, activities, handouts, and strategies are provided. Cost: $6.00.

Transdisciplinary teamwork and integrated therapy: Clarifying the misconceptions

York, J., Rainforth, B., & Giangreco, M. F. (1990). Pediatric Physical Therapy, 2(2), 73-79. This article can be a great training resource for a small group brainstorming process because it looks at common misconceptions and provides clarifications.

Transitions

This section offers material for sharing information about the transitions made by young children and families.

Primary Resources

Project STEPS (Sequenced Transition to Education in the Public Schools) training manual and training module handouts

Beth Rous

The STEPS training manual provides materials for persons wishing to offer training on any or all aspects of community-wide systems of transition. The manual includes an overview of the STEPS model, description of training materials, overhead and handout masters, a guide for trainers in presenting visual and handout information, guidelines for time allotments, and sample agendas. As the STEPS model relies heavily on a "team approach" to training, much emphasis is placed on effective team meetings, community team development, and team building.

Supplemental Resources

Bridging early services for children with special needs and their families

Rosenkoetter, S. E., Hains, A. H., & Fowler, S. A. (1994). Baltimore, MD: Paul H. Brookes. This manual provides guidelines for meeting federal requirements, shares models that demonstrate how planning benefits all involved in an early childhood transition, and explains how to ensure successful transitions through a variety of strategies. Cost: $26.00.

Building bridges to kindergarten: Transition planning for children

Rosenkoetter, S.E., Hains, A.H., & Streufert, C. (1997). McPherson, KS: Bridging Early Services Transition Project. This 16-minute videotape and companion guide entitled It's a big step are intended to assist community-based collaboration to promote effective transitions. The materials support a process through which community planners could come together, assess the positive transition practices in place, and determine additional actions or events to improve current practices. Cost: $30.00 (videotape and guide).

Family and Child Transitions into Least Restrictive Environments (FACTS/LRE) publications

FACTS/LRE Project. (1999). Champaign, IL: Author. This recently completed federal project has left behind a rich legacy: five instructional modules on aspects of transition. Topics covered include interagency agreements, entering a new preschool, facilitating inclusion in community settings, planning transitions to preschool, and writing an interagency agreement on transition. Great content, vignettes, and teaching examples. Cost: Download from the World Wide Web at <http://facts.crc.uiuc.edu

Making a difference

Chapel Hill Training and Outreach. (1995). Chapel Hill, NC: Author. This 20-minute videotape was developed through one of 32 federally-funded programs for supporting Head Start children in making successful transitions to kindergarden. The film illustrates how schools, communities, families, college volunteers, and agencies (housing, YMCA, police) can work together, with strong emphasis on outreach and family support. Cost: $40.00.

Passages: Providing continuity from preschool to school

Southeastern Regional Vision for Education (SERVE). (1995). Tallahassee, FL: Author. Using examples from day care programs, Head Start programs, and public schools throughout the southeast, this 32-minute videotape illustrates key concepts of transitions that promote school success for young children (developmentally appropriate practices, cultural congruity, interagency collaboration, multi-age groupings, cooperative learning, site management, family involvement, and preschool/kindergarden continuity). Pleasant footage provides basic facts in an engaging manner. Cost: $19.95.

Project STEPS university packet

Rous, B. (1995). Lexington, KY: Project STEPS Dissemination Center. This packet was developed to assist faculty in addressing transition content as part of their course work. It contains overview information about transition, recommended practices from the STEPS project in the areas of administration, staff involvement, family involvement and child preparation, overheads, and handouts. Cost: $3.00.

TEEM: A manual to support the transition of young children with special needs and their families from preschool into kindergarten and other regular education environments

Ross-Allen, J., & Conn-Powers, M. (1991). Burlington, VT: Center for Developmental Disabilities. The TEEM (Transition into the Elementary Education Mainstream) manual describes a model which has enabled Vermont families and professionals to collaboratively develop transition procedures resulting in successful integration. Best practices and critical activities are identified; recommended procedures, strategies and examples are offered and can be modified for use in other states.

Terrific transitions: Ensuring continuity of services for children and their families

Southeastern Regional Vision for Education (SERVE). (1997). Tallahassee, FL: SERVE. This resource booklet was designed to assist caregivers, educators, and parents in improving transitions and creating continuity of services for children, ages 0-8, and their families. This is an easy-to-read resource guide that includes a brief history of the transition movement, checklists, strategies, samples for promoting continuity, and a list of suggested resources. Cost: $6.00.

Transition: A time for growth

Rosenkoetter, S., Hains, A.H., & Streufert, C. (1997). McPherson, KS: Bridging Early Services Transition Project. A positive, informative 12-minute videotape with strategies for transitioning children (with or without special needs) from preschool to kindergarten. Some of the strategies illustrated include visits to receiving sites by children and families, creating portfolios to accompany children to receiving sites, and transition fairs. Specific considerations for urban and rural settings are addressed. A companion booklet, Step Ahead at Age 3, is available in English or Spanish. Cost: $30.00.

Family Participation

This section includes materials to support the involvement of family members in different roles in early childhood intervention, including leadership, advocacy, personnel preparation, and program design and development.

Primary Resources

Making room at the table: Fostering family involvement in the planning and governance of formal support systems

Elizabeth S. Jeppson, Josie Thomas, Anthony Markward, Jo Anne Kelly, Gail Koser, and David Diehl

This manual, co-created by the Family Resource Coalition of American and the Institute for Family-Centered Care, provides trainers and facilitators with information and materials for conducting a three hour module designed to foster family involvement in the advisory and decision-making roles. The content is relevant, current, and research-based. The format and activities reflect principles of adult learning. The manual is clearly written and includes handouts and overheads.

Parents together:
A manual for parents of children with special needs
The Exceptional Children's Assistance Center (ECAC)

This compilation provides clear, concise information and examples for sharing information about many aspects of special education. Chapters are devoted to issues including: "What is special education?," "IDEA," "The Special Education Process," "When you Disagree, Records/Record Keeping," "Documentation and Letter Writing," "Communication Skills," "Evaluation," and "IEP." Materials could easily be used to structure training around these issues. While the emphasis is clearly on older children, much of the content would be useful to families with infants and toddlers. This resource comes highly recommended by family members.

Vanderbilt Family Empowerment Project: Family group curriculum manual

Craig Ann Heflinger, Jan Anderson, Joann Digby, Charles Grubb, & Carolyn Williams

This manual, developed through the Vanderbilt Family Empowerment Project, provides all materials necessary to conduct a training program designed to enable parents to become collaborators in their children's mental health treatment. The materials are organized in three modules, focused on knowledge (of the service delivery system, assessment, and rights), services efficacy (reinforcing the motivation for changing parents' behavior and relationships to the service provider), and skills (in areas including assertiveness, communication, and goal setting). While these materials were originially designed to provide training to families who had children with mental health needs, they have much broader application. Most activities and assignments could be easily modified for any audience.

Essential allies: Families as advisors

Jeppson, E.S., & Thomas, J. (1995). Bethesda, MD: Institute for Family-Centered Care. This book has lots of very practical information, illustrations, and resources for supporting family involvment in advisory activities, including training. Developed to "help bridge the gap between providers' past training and new expectations of collaboration and partnership with families," this publication succeeds in a big way. Item No. 32060. Cost: $15.00.

The Exceptional Parent 1999 resource guide: Directories of national organizations, associations, products and services

(1999). Exceptional Parent, 24(1), 1-80. This annual publication provides information about and addresses/phone numbers for resources that range from parent training and information centers to state assistive technology programs.

Families as advisors: A training guide for collaboration

Jeppson, E.S., & Thomas, J. (1997). Bethesda, MD: Institute for Family-Centered Care. New collegial relationships among families and practitioners bring opportunities to increase the responsiveness of programs and institutions, and also demand new attitudes and skills. The eight training activities included in this guide were designed to encourage dialogue and promote creative thinking related to families in advisory roles. Activities use a number of approaches (brainstorming, large and small group discussion, individual reflection) that should appeal to different types of learners. This is a nice companion to the earlier publications, Essential Allies: Families as Advisors and Words of Advice: A Guidebook for Families Serving as Advisors. Cost: $10.00.

Families in program and policy

Wells, N., Anderson, B., & Popper, B. (1992). McLean, VA: National Maternal and Child Health Clearinghouse. This publication summarizes the results of a national survey to determine the kinds and amounts of participation by parents and other family members in Title V Children with Special Health Care Needs (CSHCN) programs. Information included about the benefits and challenges of family involvement could be very useful in planning and training. Stock No. G059. Cost: Free.

Family involvement in policy making

Koroloff, N.M., Hunter, R.W., & Gordon, L. (1995). Portland, OR: Portland State University Regional Research Institute for Human Services. This monograph summarizes the findings of Families in Action, a five-year project to learn from the experiences of parents and other family members of children with emotional disorders who served as members of policy-making boards, committees, and other policy-related bodies. Lessons learned from families and the project are offered, along with measures and other project-related materials. Cost: $10.25.

Family-centered service coordination: A manual for parents

Zipper, I. N., Hinton, C., Weil, M., & Rounds, K. (1993). Cambridge, MA: Brookline. This monograph is designed to answer family questions about the early intervention services that may be received. Cost: $7.00. Available in English and Spanish.

Go ask Alice: A guidebook for parents serving on state and local interagency councils

Early Integration Training Project, Center for Special Needs Populations, Ohio State University. (1991). Columbus,OH: National Clearinghouse of Rehabilitation Training Materials. How can we help? A resource for families

Child Development Resources, Inc. (1991). Norge, VA: Child Development Resources.
This practical, easy-to-use instrument will help families identify their own resources and their concerns for purposes of gathering information and IFSP planning. Order No. CDR91H. Cost: $15.00 for package of 50.

Keeping it together:
A notebook for families (see information in back re: cost, etc.)

Parents Reaching Out. (1997). Los Lunas, NM: Author. This clever binder is a health and resource organizer for children with special needs and their families. Held one way all information appears in English; flipped over all information appears in Spanish. While some of the examples are New Mexico-specific, the model for helping manage the paperwork of early childhood intervention is a useful and thoughtful one. Cost: $20.00.

Making the system work: An advocacy workshop for parents

Kelker, K.A. (1987). Portland, OR: Portland State University Regional Research Institute for Human Services. The resources presented in this package are designed to provide family members with skills and strategies for serving as more effective advocates. The activities include role plays and vignettes with follow-up questions that could be used with parent and professional audiences to address a variety of family-centered practice and training issues. Cost: $8.50.

The parent perspective: A parent consultant directory

Whitehead, A., Brown, L., & Rosin, P. (1994, September). Madison, WI: Wisconsin Personnel Development Project. A directory of parents interested in presenting their family experiences and perspectives (e.g., as part of training). Cost: $5.00.

Parent to parent: Encouraging connections between parents of children with disabilities

Brown, L., & Irwin, L. (1992). Madison, WI: Wisconsin Personnel Development Project. This handbook is directed at parents and professionals who see a need for parent-to-parent matching in their area and want to know how to do it. Cost: $5.00.

Parent-professional collaboration content in professional education programs: A research report

Friesen, B.J., & Schultze, K.H. (1992). Portland, OR: Portland State University Regional Research Institute for Human Services. This monograph summarizes findings from examination of the curricula of five disciplines: medicine, social work, nursing, psychology, and special education. Each section lists discipline-specific examples of courses and programs in which family-professional partnerships are being featured, as well as specific examples of resources and materials. Could be helpful for embedding family-centered content in existing coursework and enhancing family participation in training. Cost: $5.00.

Parents as policy-makers: A handbook for effective participation

Hunter, R.W. (1994). Portland, OR: Portland State University Regional Research Institute for Human Services. The purpose of this manual is to provide parents and other family members of children with disabilities with some practical tools with which they can become effective partners with professionals in the policy-making process. It is divided into four sections: understanding the process, strategies for effective participation, organizing as advocates, and resources for decision-making. Cost: $7.25.

A parent's guide

Cost: All are available in English and Spanish on the Worldwide Web at www.nichcy.org/pubs/parent.

The premature baby book

Harrision, H. (1983). New York: St. Martin's Press. This book, written by a parent, presents clear, carefully-researched and basic information for families of premature babies. It presents the basic medical information, answers to frequently asked questions and a complete guide to taking the premature infant home. Proceeds from the sale of this book will be donated to organizations that help premature babies and their families. Cost: $19.95 plus shipping & handling.

SSI helping kids

National Center for Policy Coordination in Maternal and Child Health. Gainesville,FL: Author. This 10-minute videotape is designed to provide parents and professional staff with basic information about the SSI program for children, including purpose, eligibility criteria, application procedures and benefits. The tape could stand alone or be integrated in education or outreach efforts. Cost: Free.

Telling your family story . . . parents as presenters

King, S. (Ed.). (1994, October). Madison, WI: Wisconsin Personnel Development Project. This videotape and accompanying guide can be used by individuals or groups who are interested in improving their presentation skills. The materials, while somewhat dry, can be used to help family members and caregivers to share their personal experiences through the encouragement and examples of the families featured on the tape. Cost: $60.00.

Words of advice: A guidebook for families serving as advisors

Thomas, J., & Jeppson, E. (1997). Bethesda, MD: Institute for Family-centered Care. This publication offers guidance for thinking through the benefits and demands of advisory roles for family members, presents some fundamental principles for being a successful advisor, and suggests practical tips for dealing with common challenges that families encounter in these new roles. Designed as a follow-up to Essential Allies, the guidebook mixes useful self-assessment checklists with words of advice and encouragement from family members around the country who are already serving as advisors. Item No. 32061. Cost: $10.00.

Working together:
Early intervention family participation resources

Early Intervention Services, Massachusetts Department of Health. (1997, January). Boston: Massachusetts Department of Public Health, Bureau of Family and Community Health. This publication represents a collection of ideas for family members, practitioners, or administrators to use to stimulate and support family participation in early intervention programs. The information included ranges from the fundamentals of family participation to advisory roles, public awareness committees, and family participation standards. Cost: Free.

Your child has a disability

Batshaw, M. (1991). Baltimore: Paul Brookes. This book has lots of information for family members, practitioners and faculty. Along with easily understandable descriptions for procedures, diagnoses, and interventions, it offers some great teaching and training materials. For example, Chapter 2's section on reading a medical report offers several examples of jargon-laden writing paired with "translations". Students could be provided with the jargon, asked to write translations, and given Batshaw's translations to compare with. Cost: $24.95.

Personnel Preparation & Development

This section includes information on models (mentoring, consultation) and methods (instructional approaches, case method and team-based approaches) for supporting preservice education, inservice training, and ongoing staff development.

Primary Resources

By design: Family-centered, interdisciplinary preservice training in early intervention

Amy Whitehead, Betty Ulanski, Beth Swedeen, Rae Sprague, Gail Yellen-Shiring, Amy Fruchtman, Carrie Pomije, & Peggy Rosin

This guide for faculty and trainers was developed by the Family-Centered Interdisciplinary Training Project in Early Intervention. It describes all the strategies used to stimulate, support, and evaluate learning by students from different disciplines (seminars, team activities, family mentor experience, community placement, supervision). All materials for replicating these strategies are included, along with evaluation data from the project to guide implementation.

Career Development

Career development systems in early care and education: A planning approach

Costley, J. (1991). Boston, MA: Center for Career Development in Early Care and Education at Wheelock College. This classic publication addresses the key characteristics of a career development system and the steps to develop and implement such a system. Could be an instructional tool for examining what different states are or aren't doing to create supportive lattice structures.
Cost: $5.00.

Creating and using core knowledge/competencies

Azer, S.L. (1997). Boston, MA: Center for Career Development in Early Care and Education at Wheelock College. This document discusses the ways states have identified and are using core knowledge/competency areas as part of a comprehensive early childhood career development system. Examples, including sample documents from eight states, could be used for instruction or planning.
Cost: $15.00.

Working toward making a career of it: A profile of career development initiatives in 1996

Azer, S.L., Capraro, K.L., & Elliott, K.A. (1996). Boston, MA: Center for Career Development in Early Care and Education at Wheelock College. This document does a nice job of highlighting trends and initiatives in early childhood personnel development across states. The information on issues, barriers, and challenges could be used to organize a lively class discussion of factors that support a quality work force. Cost: $15.00.

Case Method of Instruction

Case studies for teacher problem solving

Silverman, R., Welty, W.M., & Lyon, S. (1996). (2nd ed.). New York: McGraw-Hill. Thirty-seven real-life cases written to reflect K-12 classroom events or a series of related events present dilemmas to be resolved. Since each case reflects the complexity of actual classrooms, learners will be required to apply theory and reflect on practice to solve these problems. Cost: $32.00.

Leadership for special education administration: A case-based approach

Goor, M.B. (1995). Orlando: Harcourt Brace & Company. Short, very usable cases highlight current leadership challenges in providing services. Most cases are presented within the context of teamwork, in which administrators are team members who must collaborate with teachers, parents, and students. A great resource for helping students see more than one side of an issue. Cost: 45.00.

Using cases to improve college teaching: A guide to more reflective practice

Hutchings, P. (1993). Washington, DC: American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AAHE). This guide explores the use of cases about teaching and learning to prompt collaborative discussion and reflection about pedagogical issues. Strategies for writing and discussing cases are included, as well as information about additional projects, people and materials. Seven reproducible cases, with teaching notes, are included. Cost: $15.00.

Coaching

Coaching partnerships: Refining early intervention practices

Gallacher, K. (1995). Missoula, MT: Montana University Affiliated Program Rural Institute on Disabilities. This manual is designed to assist in the development and implementation of effective coaching partnerships. It includes six sections that define coaching, describe program development, examine the coaching process, describe roles, responsibilities, and potential modifications, and offer additional resources. Cost: $6.00 plus shipping and handling.

Consultation

The consultation process: Implications for early intervention

File, N. (1992). Occasional Paper No. 1. Bloomington, IN: Institute on Disability and Community. Discusses barriers to the effective practice of consultation and implications for early intervention programming. Cost: $2.00.

The consulting therapist

Hanft, B.E., & Place, P.A. (1996). San Antonio, TX: Communication Skill Builders/Therapy Skill Builders. This text offers effective strategies and case studies designed to assist individual practitioners in providing relevant consultation by using a collaborative approach with educators and other team members. Though designed to facilitate the work of occupational therapists and physical therapists with classroom teachers in developing intervention plans for students with special needs, many of the concepts and formats could easily to interdisciplinary consultative interactions in early intervention. Stock No. 0761643656. Cost: $47.50.

Distance Education

Going the distance: A handbook for developing distance degree programs using television courses and telecommunication technologies

Toby Levine Communications, Inc. (1994). Arlington, VA: PBS Adult Learning Service. This book identifies steps involved in establishing distance degree programs, issues to examine before beginning the process, and the main issues involved in program development. Provides detailed information regarding faculty, student, and financial issues involved in establishing a distance degree program. Several examples of established distance degree programs are provided. Cost: FREE. Call (800) 257-2578.

Instructional Approaches

Achieving your vision of professional development: How to assess your needs and get what you want

Collins, D. (1997). Tallahassee, FL: SERVE. This easy-to-use book has lots of good practical information and activities to assist individual learners and those who facilitate the learning of others. Sections are organized in a natural progression from developing a vision and creating a context for change through investing resources, providing continual assistance, and assessing/monitoring progress. Cost: $10.00.

Ants in his pants: Absurdities and realities of special education

Giangreco, M.F. (1998). Minnetonka, MN: Peytral Publications, Inc. This book consists of cartoons that provide humorous and thought-provoking illustrations of service delivery challenges. Inclusion, teaming, IFSPs, IEPs, and consultation are some of the areas featured. Cost: $19.95

The art of teaching adults: How to become an exceptional instructor and facilitator

Renner, P. (1994). Vancouver, BC: Training Associates. In step-by-step detail, this book describes dozens of fresh approaches to such time-honored techniques as group discussion, case studies, role playing, small group tasks, individual assignments, field projects, learning journals, and yes, even lecturing. The chapter on "asking beautiful questions" should be required reading for all new faculty members and trainers. Cost: $26.00.

Co-instruction: A case study

Whitehead, A., & Sontag, J.C. (1994). Madison, WI: Waisman Center, Early Intervention Program. This publication, intended to provide guidance to those who are interested in parent-professional collaboration in an academic setting, describes the process of co-instruction undertake by the authors (a professor and a parent of a child with a disability). The course syllabus, objectives, structure/approach, and accompanying materials are provided, along with instructor reflections and recommendations. Cost: $5.00.

Cooperative learning: Increasing college faculty instructional productivity

Johnson, D.W., Johnson, R.T., & Smith, K.A. (1991). Washington, DC: ERIC Clearinghouse on Higher Education, The George Washington University, School of Education and Human Development. The use of active learning strategies, such as cooperative learning, is growing at a remarkable rate. This monograph is about how faculty can ensure that students actively create their knowledge rather than passively listening to yours. Good ideas for structuring learning situations cooperatively at the college level so students work together to achieve shared goals. Stock No. ED347871. Cost: $17.00.

Critical thinking: Theory, research, practice, and possibilities

Kurfiss, J.G. (1988). Washington, DC: ERIC Clearinghouse on Higher Education, The George Washington University, School of Education and Human Development. This monograph was designed to enrich models of critical thinking currently being utilized by educators. It illustrates current practice in the teaching of critical thinking at two levels: individual courses within a discipline and institutional programs to foster critical thinking. Strong emphasis on research and theory, but still some good applications. Document No. ED304041. Cost: $15.00.

Delivering effective training sessions: Techniques for productivity

McArdle, G.E.H. (1993). Menlo Park, CA: Crisp Publications. Clear and explicit ideas on how to set up training environments, use materials effectively, encourage participation, and deal with a variety of training challenges. Cost: $10.00

Games trainers play: Experiential learning exercises

Newstrom, J.W., & Scannell, E.E. (1980). Des Moines,IA: Training Express. A collection of activities, exercises, and games to supplement learning on any topic. All of the exercises, which are divided into categories such as climate setting & icebreakers, listening, problem solving & creativity, and knowledge transfer, have been previously field-tested for success. Stock No. MG22X. Cost: $29.95.

Gone through any changes lately?

Brown, J., & Edelman, L. (Producers), & Edelman, L. (Director). (1998). Denver: Western Media Products. This 4-minute video was developed for use by trainers, educators, team builders and discussion leaders to use in helping groups deal with change in a positive way. Using the imagery of a favorite childhood toy, the tape encourages personal reflection and stimulates conversation about the effects of change on peoples' lives, work environments, and relationships. Cost: $43.95 (includes shipping).

Growing teachers: Partnerships in staff development

Jones, E. (Ed.). (1993). Washington, DC: National Association for the Education of Young Children. This publication offers eight stories involving partnerships between one or more early childhood programs—preschools, child care centers, public schools—and some other agency or individual working over time with teaching staff to facilitate growth. Along with each example is some very good material on facilitation, mentorship, communication and motivations for learning. Request #208. Cost: $6.00.

Making families matter at two-year colleges: Training the early childhood workforce to support families

Coffman, J. (1999). Cambridge, MA: Harvard Family Research Project. This monograph shares the findings from a study of the family-focused training available at two-year colleges that provide early childhood education programs. Included in the report are strategies and promising practices that address the gaps found in current programs. Cost: $13.00.

Pediatric occupational therapy and early intervention

Case-Smith, J. (1998). (2ND ed.). Woburn, MA: Butterworth-Heinemann. This book is written for practitioners working in early intervention programs and for students training to be pediatric OTs. Clinical strategies and case examples from practice have application for students as well as experienced therapists. Cost: $50.00.

Preparing practitioners to work with infants, toddlers, and their families: Issues and recommendations for educators and trainers

Fenichel, E. S., & Eggbeer, L. (1990). Arlington, VA: ZERO TO THREE/National Center for Clinical Infant Programs. One in a series of four related publications addressing key elements of training, competencies, and action steps. The other three volumes deal with issues and recommendations for parents, policymakers, and the professions. Stock No. 25. Cost: $5.00.

Professors are from Mars, students are from Snickers: How to write and deliver humor in the classroom and in professional presentations

Berk, R. A. (1998). Madison, WI: Mendota Press. Humor can break down barriers and enable teachers and other presenters to connect with students or other audiences. A variety of techniques that can be used to integrate humor systematically into instruction and professional presentations are described and illustrated, along with suggestions on when, where and how to use humor effectively. Cost: $19.95.

Reforming personnel preparation in early intervention: Issues, models, and practical strategies

Winton, P.J., McCollum, J.A., & Catlett, C. (Eds.). (1997). Baltimore: Paul Brookes. A text designed to promote the delivery of creative and effective preparation of students and practitioners working in any area of early intervention. Four sections delineate the issues, describe the challenges, present possible solutions in the form of instructional ideas and activities, and offer specific examples of models around the country that work. Cost: $56.95.

The skillful teacher: On technique, trust, and responsiveness in the classroom

Brookfield, S. D. (1990). San Francisco: Jossey-Bass. Drawing on 20 years of his own teaching experience, Brookfield identifies critical areas in the teacher-learner relationship – such as building trust with students or overcoming resistance to learning – to demonstrate what teachers can do to improve their skills. Guiding discussions, balancing learning styles, and utilizing diverse instructional methods are a few of the topics covered. It's a classic! Cost: $32.95.

The teaching game: A practical guide to mastering training

Saunders, M.K., & Hawkins, R.L. (1986). Dubuque,IA: Kendall/Hunt Publishing Company. This practical guide was designed to assist teachers/trainers of adults. It provides lots of useful examples throughout chapters that focus on the characteristics of adult learners (and what to do about them), the characteristics of adult educators, interpersonal styles and delivery, communication between trainers and trainees, and instructional techniques. The chapter on evaluation and feedback has clear examples of how to write test questions, obtain useful feedback, and encourage self-assessment. Cost: $32.00.

Training methods that work: A handbook for trainers

Hart, L.B. (1991). Menlo Park, CA: Crisp Publications. Helpful ideas for adding variety to training, using an array of training methods, and selecting methods and materials for specific audiences. Full descriptions of seventeen training methods are provided. Cost: $10.95 plus postage and handling.

Training teachers: A harvest of theory and practice

Carter, M. & Curtis, D. (1994). Beltsville,MD: Gryphon House. Teacher/trainer Elizabeth Jones describes this book as "a collection of teaching tools and learning strategies" along with "ideas in profusion" in a "beautifully organized structure". It offers great resources for teachers and trainers on adult learning, constructivism, anti-bias practices, workshop planning, staff development (for supervisors), and tips for trainers. Cost:32.95.

Mentoring

The early childhood mentoring curriculum

Bellm, D., Whitebook, M., & Hnatiuk, P. (1997). Washington, DC: National Center for the Early Childhood Work Force. This is a comprehensive, flexible set of tools for mentors and mentor trainers in center-based and family child care programs. Two separate volumes, A Trainer's Guide and A Handbook for Mentors, contain good information, along with clearly thought out and visually appealing learning activities, handouts, checklists, and supplementary readings. Cost: Handbook- $19.95; Trainers guide- $19.95.

Empowering the faculty: Mentoring redirected and renewed

Luna, G., & Cullen, D.L. (1995). Washington, DC: ERIC Clearinghouse on Higher Education, Graduate School of Education and Human Development, The George Washington University. This monograph synthesizes the literature on mentoring in terms of conceptual frameworks, mentoring arenas, and roles and functions of mentors and proteges. It also discusses the dynamics of mentoring for empowering faculty members as leaders and the importance of mentoring women and minorities in academe. In discussions designed to convey the benefits of mentoring to the entire institute, the authors guidelines and examples that range from getting a program started to keeping the ball rolling. Stock No. ED399889. Cost: $25.00.

How to find a mentor or be one

Robertson, S. C. (1992). Rockville, MD: American Occupational Therapy Association. Structure, forms and examples for successfully organizing mentoring relationships. Order No. 1967. Cost: $10.00.

Learning through supervision and mentorship to support the development of infants, toddlers and their families

Fenichel, E. with the NCCIP Work Group on Supervision and Mentorship. (1991, December). Zero to Three, XII (2), 1-9. This is the lead article in a theme issue devoted to aspects of supervision and mentoring in early intervention. Stock No. 71. Cost: $18.95.

Learning through supervision and mentorship to support the development of infants, toddlers and their families: A source book

Fenichel, E. (Ed.). (1992). Arlington,VA: ZERO TO THREE/National Center for Clinical Infant Programs. This publication delineates key issues and suggests strategies for incorporating supervision and mentoring into training and practice institutions and systems. Cost: $18.95.

Primary Resources

Early intervention curriculum compendium

Western Region Faculty Institute for Training, JFK Center for Developmental Disabilities

This compendium captures basic information about 29 highly-rated, readily-available curricula. Each publication is described in terms of an overview, features and format, target audience, objectives, evaluation of effectiveness and field testing, preservice/inservice applicability, adaptations for training faculty, and additional comments. Text reflects the merged comments of both reviewers/users and authors/developers. Ordering information is provided for easy access.

Multiple-Content Resources

This section includes training resources that address two or more content areas.

Primary Resources

First Steps interdisciplinary training curriculum

Jean Ann Summers and staff of the University of Missouri, Kansas City University Affiliated Program

First Steps is the name of Missouri's efforts to develop a statewide coordinated, interagency system of early intervention services for infants and toddlers with special needs and their families. While the materials were designed to accompany a four-day interdisciplinary training event, they are well-designed and can be used more creatively. There are two sections: a training packet (includes session objectives, copies of overheads, case studies, handouts and activity sheets) and the First Steps interdisciplinary training curriculum textbook. Session topics include "Early Intervention Assessment," "Linking Assessment to Intervention," "Sharing/Interpretation of Assessment Results," "Family's CPR," "Principles in Intervention of 0–3," and "Transition." While some material is clearly Missouri-specific, alternate state-specific information could easily be substituted. Evaluation forms are included.

Infants and toddlers with special needs and their families: Faculty resource guide

Louisiana Personnel Preparation Consortium

These instructional materials were developed as resources for teaching/training in four major areas of early intervention: families, law, teaming and careers. Each topical module is self contained, designed to be presented in about one hour, and intended for use with preservice or inservice audiences. Modules are divided into two parts. Part One contains objectives, outline, explanatory materials, evaluation and resource material to provide the instructor with information about teaching the module. Part Two contains lecture notes, worksheets, handouts, and transparencies.

Interdisciplinary infant and family services training: A professional training model

Jennifer Kilgo, Bernardine Clarke, Ann Cox, & Debra Carlotti, Editors

These materials were designed to assist faculty in planning an interdisciplinary curriculum or training opportunities for individuals serving infants at-risk for or known to have developmental disabilities and their families. Section II of the manual contains topical modules (introduction, objectives, content outline, suggested learning activities, suggested handouts and resources) that can be used to add content to existing courses, create new courses or organize inservice experiences. The topics included are: "University affiliated programs (UAPs)," "Part H of Public Law 99-457," "Screening and Assessment in Early Intervention," "A Family-centered Approach to Early Intervention," "Family Development and Eelationships," "Cultural Considerations in Early Intervention," "Teamwork Skills," "Service Delivery Models in Early Intervention," "Individualized Family Service Plans," "Service Coordination," "Early Transitions," "Interagency Collaboration," "Consultation," "Health Care Needs," "Play Development," "Assistive Technology," "Children at Risk," and "Development of Infants Prenatally Exposed to Cocaine." Appended materials provide interdisciplinary competencies, course syllabi and evaluation measures.

Model of interdisciplinary training for children with handicaps: A series for caregivers of infants and toddlers (MITCH)

Florida Department of Education, Bureau of Education for Exceptional Students

The Project MITCH training series is composed of 13 modules designed to provide interdisciplinary training and resources to parents, non-degree child care workers and health care providers who work with infants and toddlers with disabilities. Each module is self-contained with respect to instructions, information and handouts; each is designed to be presented in three hours and can be used individually or as part of a series. Module titles include: "Intellectual Development," "Speech and Language Development," "The Child who seems Different," "Family Functioning," "Listening and Sensory Integration," "Behavior Management," "Health Care," "Motor Development," "Nutrition and Feeding Practices," "Working Together," "Visual Impairments," and "Interventions for Children." Materials are designed for use in an interactive learning format, with lots of participant contributions. Guidance for the instructor includes suggested discussion questions, overheads, equipment lists and everything else that might be needed.

Resource Guide

Selected Early Childhood/Early Intervention Training Materials

What's In the Resource Guide?

- Almost 400 entries divided into 18 sections that correspond with key early childhood/early intervention instructional content and process areas
- descriptions of complete products to assist you in designing quality personnel development efforts (i.e., curricula, videotapes, discussion guides)
- annotated entries for materials that can serve as supplemental resources to your preservice and inservice efforts (i.e., articles, bibliographies, free publications, annotated directories)
- 8th edition (1999) features more materials on early care and development (0–9) and free products that you can download from the Web.
